CONSULATES AT BARCELONA ARE PILLAGED

Revolutionists Sack City, With Special Ferocity Against Foreigners.

OFFICIALS ASK FOR WARSHIPS

American Cruiser Cincinnati Immediately Ordered to Sail from Porto Cabello.

LIVES OF WOMEN NOT HELD SACRED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Port-of-Spain, Island of Trinidad, Aug. 12.—Details of the fighting at Barcelona, Venezuela, received here by boat, show that a terrible battle started on Sunday, August 3, and that on the following Wednesday the revolutionists entered the city. They kept up a continuous firing day and night, destroying houses one by one to reach the center of the city. At midnight on Thursday two-thirds of the city was in the power of the revolutionists. On Friday the government strongholds were carried and the last survivors of the government officers tried to escape by the river to the sea, but failing in this they made one last stand after which, at noon Friday, they surrendered to the revolutionist commanders, Generals Francisco, Monagas and Platero.

The prisoners include the commander of the government troops, 8 generals and 23 colonels. The dead on both sides numbered 167. All houses in the city were sacked and in some instances inoffensive women and children were maltreated and killed.

Foreign Consulates Pillaged.

All stores were pillaged, especially those belonging to foreigners, and the French cable office was robbed. The American, Italian and Dutch consulates were pillaged, and the consuls have asked for men-of-war to protect life and property.

United States Minister Bowen at Caracas has cabled the United States cruiser Cincinnati to go to Barcelona without delay and to take provisions. The Topeka is anchored at Porto Cabello, the Marietta is on the Orinoco, the German warship Falke is at Curacoa and the Italian cruiser Giovanni Bausan and the British cruiser Pallas are at La Guayra.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(Special).—Revolutionary armies are threatening Venezuela at three important points and President Castro appears to be facing a crisis more serious than any yet reported. The capture of Barcelona by the revolutionists was the first advantage of importance they have gained in two months although the steady advance of Gen. Matos, the revolutionary leader, upon Caracas from the south has placed him almost within striking distance of the capital.

News Comes From Bowen.

United States Minister Bowen at Caracas cabled the state department that the United States consular representative at Barcelona had informed him that Barcelona had been taken by the revolutionists and that they are sacking the town and that in his judgment a war vessel should immediately be sent there to protect American interests. This information was sent to the navy department and Acting Secretary Darling at once sent cable orders to Commander McLean, commanding the Cincinnati, which had just arrived at Porto Cabello, that the vessel is needed immediately at Barcelona.

Inasmuch as the Topeka was already at Porto Cabello, where she was ordered yesterday, it is probable that the Cincinnati has already proceeded to Barcelona, which is about 150 miles from La Guayra and about 250 miles from Porto Cabello.

Three important points are now either held or threatened by the revolutionists.

The navy department today received a cablegram from Commander McCrea of the gunboat Machias at Cape Haitien, reporting that the attempted blockade of the port by the revolutionists is ineffective and that he considered it abandoned.

MAY APPOINT ALGER.

Former Secretary of War May Succeed Senator McMillan.

DETROIT, MICH., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Gov. Bliss states that he sees no necessity at the present time for appointing a successor to the late United States Senator McMillan, and that unless some unforseen contingency arises which renders such appointment imperative, none will be made.

In any event it may be considered assured that the governor will make no appointment until after the state election in November. Should a special session of the United States senate be called, an appointment may be made. Although Gov. Bliss will not indicate on whom his choice would fall, those close to him say that it would be Gen. R. A. Alger. Gen. Alger left the Profile house in the White mountains tonight for Detroit.

THRONE WEIGHED IN CUPID'S SCALES AND CAST ASIDE

Crown Prince of Germany Would Renounce All for American Girl.

GLADYS DEACON WINS HIS HEART

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Few more romantic stories have crossed the Atlantic than one that came from Paris yesterday that the crown prince of Germany wishes to renounce his rank and his right of succession to the throne in order to wed Miss Gladys Deacon, eldest daughter of the late Edward Parker Deacon. The Matin, a Paris newspaper, vouches for the report.

Miss Deacon, the Matin says, does not frown upon the young prince's suit, but she has informed him that she will consent to no morganatic alliance—that he must marry her, if at all, in the regular way. And the prince is willing to comply with this request, for he has given to Miss Deacon a ring which, he swore when it was presented to him by his grandmother, the late Empress Frederick, should never be worn by any woman except her whom he intended to make his wife.

Emperor William does not regard his son's love affair with favor, and the Matin says the matter has been the subject of a very violent interview between the crown prince and his father.

Miss Deacon, who is a beautiful and accomplished young woman, has spent most of her life abroad. Her parents went to Paris to live soon after their marriage, in 1879. Mr. Deacon belonged to a prominent and wealthy Boston family and his wife was the daughter of the late Admiral Charles H. Baldwin, U. S. N., of this city. They were both prominent in society in this country and abroad and their married life was supposed to be happy.

From Cannes, in 1892, however, came the news of the shooting and killing by Mr. Deacon of M. Emilie Abelle, whom he suspected of being too intimate with his wife. Mr. Deacon was sentenced to one year's imprisonment for murder, but was soon pardoned. He immediately secured a divorce from his wife and returned to America. Here he developed symptoms of insanity and in 1901 he died in a sanitarium.

After the divorce Mrs. Deacon continued to reside in Paris with her two elder daughters, Gladys and Audrey. She came came back to America before Mr. Deacon's death, however, and it was reported that they had been reconciled.

Mr. Deacon left a considerable estate to be divided equally among his four daughters.

MADE A QUICK TRIP.

Meadville's Missing Chief of Police Is Reported to be in Canada.

MEADVILLE, PA., Aug. 12.—Emmet S. Knapp, Meadville's missing chief of police, who was in Pittsburgh Sunday, made a sudden and long jump to Hamilton, Ontario, where he was Monday evening. The information came in the shape of a dispatch received by Sheriff D. N. Scott. It was sent from Hamilton by an employe of the sheriff who was there on business and reads as follows:

"Knapp is O. K. If wanted wire."

Sheriff Scott replied in substance that there is no ground on which to detain Knapp.

The causes for the absentee's strange wanderings are not yet known. Some of the people who have reported seeing him have stated that he was considerably under the influence of liquor.

LEXINGTON, MO., Aug. 12.—Charles Salvers (white) and Harry Gates (colored) were taken from the county jail by a masked mob this morning and lynched. They were charged with killing George W. SCHWAB ADDS MANY MILLIONS TO HIS FORTUNE

Buys Bethlehem Plant for $7,500,000, Sells for $26,000,000.

TAKES HIS PAY IN SECURITIES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 12.—At a conference held this afternoon at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. final details of the sale of the Bethlehem Steel Company to the United States Shipbuilding Company were completed, and the new shipbuilders' trust tomorrow will begin to operate that immense steel armor and gun plant. By the transaction Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, becomes a much wealthier man, and incidentally he emphatically refuted the statements of Wall street financiers made at the time he purchased the Bethlehem Steel Company, that he had secured a white elephant.

According to the stories told in banking circles today, Mr. Schwab succeeded in securing a rich return in the sale made today. It is understood that for the payment of $7,500,000 in cash to J. P. Morgan & Co., he again secured control of the Bethlehem Steel Company and then turned it over to the United States Shipbuilding Company for $10,000,000 of collateral trust certificates of the latter company, $8,000,000 of its preferred stock and $8,000,000 of its common stock. In other words, the United States Shipbuilding Company is reported to have paid Mr. Schwab securities having a par value of $26,000,000 for a property for which Mr. Schwab paid $7,500,000 in cash.

None of the representatives of Mr. Schwab who were present at the conference today would discuss the terms of the purchase, stating that it was Mr. Schwab's personal business.

GRAND LODGE OF ELKS ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

George A. Cronk of Omaha Is Exalted Ruler—Meadville Man Chosen Treasurer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SALT LAKE, UTAH, Aug. 12.—Utah and Salt Lake City extended a royal welcome to the visiting Elks at the Mormon tabernacle today. Facing many thousand members of that fraternity, representatives of every section of the country, Judge O. W. Powers of Salt Lake bade them welcome. Gov. Heber M. Wells laid before them as their own the state of Utah and the riches thereof. The meeting, which followed an immense military and civic parade, marked the formal opening of the annual reunion of the grand lodge. Probably 12,000 visiting Elks are in Salt Lake tonight.

The election of grand officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Grand exalted ruler, George A. Cronk, Omaha; grand leading knight, W. B. Krock, Leadington, Ky.; grand royal knight, Judge A. H. Pickens, Denver; grand lecturing knight, Joseph E. Henning, Anderson, Ind.; grand secretary, George Reynolds, Saginaw, Mich.; grand treasurer, E. S. Orris, Meadville, Pa.; grand tyler, Charles Kaufman, Hoboken, N. J.; grand trustee, John O'Shea, Boston.

Grand Exalted Ruler Pickett took strong ground against the growing practice of holding street carnivals and fairs. These enterprises, he held, were more productive of harm than good to the order, and he recommended that they be either regulated or prohibited.

Postmaster's Son Arrested.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Lloyd Claybaugh, son of the postmaster of Donora, was arrested yesterday by Postoffice Inspector Birdseye on a charge of stealing mail matter. Bail was given for his appearance.

KOWASH BOUGHT A WIFE, THEN RUED HIS BARGAIN

Stephen Kowash paid $150 for Mary Rhoda, wife of Andrew Rhoda, at Homestead, but after two days' trial decided he had been beaten in the bargain. He demanded the return of the purchase money from Rhoda, but as the latter was perfectly satisfied with his bargain and needed the money he refused.

Kowash and Rhoda then came to blows, Mary siding with her former husband, and all three of them fell into the clutches of the police, who did not know what the trouble was about. The story came out at the hearing yesterday, when Kowash tried to make Burgess J. C. Miller a collection agent.

The woman, who is about 23 years of age, can speak but a few words of English, but she was able to make it understood that it really made no difference to her which one of the men she had, so long as she was sure of one. She went away with Rhoda, leaving Kowash swearing vengeance and plotting to get his $150.

PRESIDENT GETS READY FOR ACTION

Extra Session of Senate Likely to Give Cubans Relief.

TREATY PREPARED FOR SUBMISSION

Hay and Quesada Have Reciprocity Measure Written, All but Signatures.

DELAY UNTIL AFTER NOVEMBER ELECTION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Oyster Bay, L. I., Aug. 12.—When asked tonight about the dispatch from Washington today stating that an extra session of the senate would be called in November, President Roosevelt declined either to confirm or deny the report. He did say, however, that there was no authority whatever for the report that an extra session would be called earlier than November.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had not considered the matter since he left Washington, and would not consider it at this time. It is generally believed, however, here and in Washington that an extra session of the senate will be called early in November to ratify a Cuban reciprocity treaty. It is not likely that the session will be called until after the election.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 12.—Advices received here indicate that President Roosevelt will call the senate in extraordinary session early in November.

Must Help Cubans.

Ever since it became evident that nothing would be accomplished in the matter of reciprocity with Cuba at the recent session of congress, rumors of a more or less definite nature have been in circulation that the president would call an extra session either of the entire congress to enact Cuban reciprocity legislation or of the senate to ratify, if possible, a reciprocal treaty with Cuba.

During the past week it has been stated that it was the purpose of President Roosevelt to call a special session of the senate as early as September.

It can be stated by authority that he has no such intentions. His time and that of many members of the senate of both political parties will be completely occupied during September and October. It is understood to be the belief of the president that a session of the senate held for the purpose of ratifying a reciprocity treaty with Cuba would be much more likely to be fruitful of results if it is held after the November elections than if it was held before.

Treaty Practically Ready.

It is assured that the question of the relations of the United States with Cuba will enter largely into the approaching campaign, and it is stated that the president feels the Democrats will be less likely to offer serious opposition to a reciprocity treaty after the election than they would before that time.

A treaty with Cuba practically has been prepared. It requires only the finishing touches and the signatures of Minister Quesada and Secretary of State Hay to make it ready for presentation to the senate.

No definite date, it is understood, has been fixed upon for the meeting of the session in November, but that it will be soon after the election is reasonably certain. The president, it is said, hopes to have the reciprocity question cleared away entirely before the regular session of congress.

Secretary Cortelyou came over from Hempstead, where he has a cottage, and spent some time with the president. He is at work on the itinerary of the trip to the northwest which the president is to take next month.

BIG CONCERNS COMBINE.

The International Harvester Company Is Formed With Capital of $120,000,000.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 12.—The International Harvester Company, with an authorized capital of $120,000,000, was incorporated this evening. The company is authorized to manufacture harvesting machines and agricultural implements of all kinds. It is understood that among the concerns interested is the McCormick reaper and mower concern of Chicago.

The articles provide that all of the $120,000,000 of the capital stock shall be common, unless it shall be decided to increase the company's capital beyond those figures. In that event $120,000,000 is to be preferred stock and the additional capital is to be common.

The incorporators are: Abram M. Hyatt, Allenburst, N. J.; George W. Hebard, New York; Rowland R. Dennis, Auburn, N. Y.; Edward M. S. Miller, New York; Robert S. Green, Elizabeth, N. J., and Erastus M. Cravath, New York.

BUYS TERMINAL SITE.

Western Maryland Railroad Secures Large Tract of Land in South Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12.—The Western Maryland Railroad company has purchased 125 acres of land in South Baltimore for terminal purposes and it is said work will begin immediately on improving the property for railroad purposes. The site is west of Fort McHenry on the middle branch of the Patapsco. The frontage on both sides of the point has, it is said, been acquired.

To reach the point the Gwynns Falls route at the western city limits, already acquired by the company, will be used and the Patapsco will be bridged at a shallow portion farther up stream. Congress has appropriated several hundred thousands of dollars to dredge this branch of the Patapsco and with the completion of this work Baltimore will be given new deep water harbor.

It is understood that the price paid for the property was $900,000, but the details of the purchase are not available. The land for the most part has never been improved

BEAT THE HEAD OF INFANT CHILD AGAINST BED

The Brutal Deed of John Ruskosky Has Resulted Fatally.

NEIGHBORS CALLED ON POLICE TO STOP IT

John Ruskosky, a Pole of No. 5 Seventh avenue, Braddock, is in the Allegheny county jail awaiting an investigation as to the cause of the death of his 7-weeks-old daughter at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, as the result of wounds said to have been inflicted by her father.

The charges against Ruskosky were made by his neighbors, and the case is one of the most shocking in the history of the county. It is alleged that Ruskosky was angered by the crying of the child, which was ill, and grasping her by the legs, beat her head against the bed posts.

The story as told by the Braddock police is as follows: Little Annie Ruskosky became ill a week ago and as a result grew very cross, crying a great deal. The neighbors claim the father did not take kindly to the crying of his little girl and used drastic measures to stop it. Neighbors allege they saw the man repeatedly pick up the infant by the heels and dash her head against the bed and even against the wall of the house. The neighbors were shocked at the father's brutality and reported the case to the police.

Father Was Arrested.

Lieut. John Donovan began an investigation and locked the father up late Monday night on a charge of cruelty. He was kept in the Braddock police station until yesterday morning, when, in company with an officer, he was allowed to go to his home to see the child. Before the officer and Ruskosky reached the house the child died. The coroner's office was notified and an official investigation commenced.

Deputy Coroner Charles Bender viewed the body late yesterday afternoon and placed Ruskosky under arrest. It is alleged that the child's body bore signs of many knocks and bruises. A post-mortem examination was held but the result will not be given out until the inquest on Friday.

Ruskosky denies that he was cruel to his child, stating that when the neighbors allege he threw her against the bed he was carrying her in his arms and that he stumbled and fell on the bed with the child.

The affair caused considerable excitement in the vicinity of Ruskosky's home and when he was being taken to the car to go to the county jail by the deputy coroner several hundred persons gathered about the place and clamored for Ruskosky's life.

Deputy Coroner's Tale.

It was only after great difficulty that Ruskosky's wife could be freed from her husband, she insisting on hanging to his neck and crying. Ruskosky has been in America only a short time and is unable to speak English.

Last night Deputy Coroner Charles Bender said that from his investigation yesterday he believed John Ruskosky certainly killed his infant daughter. He said: "Both the witnesses to the tragedy, Mrs. Elizabeth Kilee and Mary Sullivan, saw Ruskosky lift his little girl by the feet and dash her against the bed. They told me so yesterday.

"The child died of these injuries received at the hands of its father. When I talked to the infant's mother yesterday all that she seemed able to tell was 'My bad man did it.'

"It is one of the most shocking cases with which I ever had to deal and the enormity of the treatment of their child does not seem to have impressed itself on either father or mother."

Russia Wants a Big Loan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Application has been made to the stock exchange to list 2,310,000,000 rubles 4 per cent certificates of rente of the Imperial Russian government. The application, it is known, has the support of J. P. Morgan & Co., who are interested in the issue. There is little doubt that the application will be granted.

BOY LOSES LIFE TRYING TO SAVE HIS COMPANION

Forgot He Couldn't Swim in Heroic Thought of Moment.

ATLANTIC CITY SURF TRAGEDY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 12.—Joseph Land, aged 10 years, lost his life in a heroic effort to rescue a companion as youthful as himself, who had been knocked down by a breaker and was being carried out into deep water. Young Land was unable to swim, but he forgot all about his own danger in his eagerness to save his companion, and both were drowned.

The tragedy was witnessed by Samuel Stagg, 11 years old, who was one of the trio when they left their homes in New Jersey avenue to bathe in the surf. They were to have waited until older folk joined them, but concluded they would try the wetting which ended in the death of two. Stagg also went out to save the lad who first got into danger. Daniel DeAngeli is the 10-year-old son of John DeAngeli, a member of Dumont's minstrels, at present playing an engagement at the Steel pier; Joseph Land was the son of Charles Land, a contractor residing in Philadelphia, who has a cottage here for the summer. The lad who was saved is the son of Samuel Stagg, a stationer of Newark, N. J.

In telling the story of the drowning of his two companions young Stagg said: "We started from the cottage at 9 o'clock. Mrs. DeAngeli and her daughter Annie were to join us and we were to wait for them, but we didn't wait and went into the water. DeAngeli was only up to his stomach when the wave came and knocked him down. Land went after him and I followed him. We were just about getting hold of DeAngeli when another breaker smothered us all up.

"When I came to the top of the water I floated, which I can do a little, and began to cry for help. Then a man waded out and brought me ashore. I told him about the other two boys, and pointed out to him where they had been. The lifeguards were then called and they got the bodies."

When the unconscious forms of the boys were found they were in comparatively shallow water. Doctors on the beach went to work with the life guards and found just a trace of life. They worked steadily for 15 or 20 minutes, and meanwhile a crowd of people from the water and the boardwalk formed a deep circle which the life guards and the police were unable to break. Despairing of getting the needed circulation of air, the forms of the two boys were taken into a bath house and the gates locked to keep out the crowd. The physicians labored for half an hour longer and then had to give up.

The father of Land broke down when he learned of his boy's death. He said: "Four months ago I built a home only to kill my 4-year-old son, who met death by handling an electric light wire. I brought my remaining son here for his health, and now he is dead."

Mrs. Land was in Philadelphia for the day and knew nothing of what had happened until she returned here.

Mr. and Mrs. DeAngeli are overcome by the death of their boy.

TRAIN PLUNGED INTO RIVER.

Two Men Are Killed in Wreck in New Jersey.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 12.—A freight train on the Long Branch division of the Central Railroad of New Jersey plunged through an open drawbridge into the Elizabeth river today. Eight cars were piled on the locomotive, which lies on the bottom of the river. The dead are: Patrick Mansfield of Plainfield, brakeman, and Fireman Webster of Bayonne. Engineer Robert Beany of Elizabethport jumped from his cab, breaking his leg and sustaining internal injuries.

The danger signals were set against the train, but Engineer Beany says the brakes would not work and he was unable to stop.

TELEPHONE WAR CAUSES A DEEP CUT IN RATES

A further cut in the price of telephones was announced yesterday by the Central District & Printing Telegraph Company, to apply to patrons in Homestead, where the company has declared an open war on the Pittsburgh & Allegheny company, which threatens to bring the cost of telephones down to almost nothing.

A week ago the Bell company announced a reduction to all physicians and ministers in Homestead, expecting, so it is said, that the rate-cutting would be followed by the rival company. The latter, however, as yet has announced no reduction, and to compel them to do so the Bell company yesterday announced the following rates, to go into effect at once: For one party lines, formerly $75 per year, now $27 per year; two party lines, formerly $60 per year, now $22; four party lines, former price $48, now $18. These are the prices for business telephones. Residence telephones have been cut to $12 per year. The cut is said to be the most radical ever made in this country, and is the beginning of cuts that are to be made wherever the rival company exists. Additional cables are being placed by the Bell company and solicitors are at work in Homestead getting subscribers at the reduced rates.

WABASH PLANS ON SOUTH SIDE ARE EXTENSIVE

President Ramsey Gives Faint Idea of Work Accomplished.

WABASH FRIENDS READY WITH CASH

Alleged Opposition of Other Roads Declared to Be Idle Gossip.

BIG ENGINEERING FEATS INVOLVED

The correctness of the publication in The Gazette last Sunday concerning extensive plans the Wabash has made to occupy property on the South Side and thereby reach large tonnage-producing industries, was confirmed by two persons high in authority yesterday.

President Joseph Ramsey of the Wabash, when interviewed in New York by a representative of The Gazette, said: "There will be large Gould terminal properties and comprehensive Gould local lines in Pittsburgh, ready for operation some time next spring. We shall have two lines running to the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company's plant. One of these lines will run direct from our new terminal near the Smithfield street bridge, up the river, reaching not only the steel plants, but many other industrial plants that produce a great quantity of paying freight.

New Manufacturing Center Proposed.

"We shall have adequate terminal properties in that part of Pittsburgh known as the South Side, along the Monongahela river. We have begun condemnation proceedings in the Pennsylvania courts to obtain what property we need, and have filed bonds against the property, as is necessary under Pennsylvania laws. We do not anticipate any serious opposition to our plans for securing this property, because adequate compensation is offered in every case.

"We shall have a strip of river property about 1,200 feet in length and wide enough to provide us with terminal spaces adequate for our operations for many years to come. The principal piece of property we shall use for terminal purposes is outside the city of Pittsburgh proper, but it is located in a position that will certainly be the manufacturing center of Pittsburgh in the near future.

"Our facilities will enable us to handle over 2,000 cars of freight per diem. We took account, in our choice of location, of the fact that there is considerable river traffic on the Monongahela, which is very well worth looking after.

Money From Friends of the Wabash.

"I do not think the total expense of establishing ourselves in Pittsburgh will aggregate $10,000,000. Two of the other Pittsburgh roads have property in the city worth well over $25,000,000, so, even if we do spend $10,000,000, it should not be considered too much of an outlay, considering a return that will accrue to all Gould lines east of the Mississippi.

"It must, however, be distinctly understood that not one dollar of the expenditure comes out of the Wabash funds. Certain friends of the Wabash and allied roads are doing this work, and there will be no responsibility or onus incumbent upon the Wabash when all is done. Benefit there will be to the Wheeling & Lake Erie and to the Wabash through the transportation of freight originating on the new branches, but that is all the share those roads have in the matter.

"I am not prepared to give the details of the plan whereby the new properties are to be financed, but I do say that the Pittsburgh extension is just as much an independent property as the Western Maryland or the Ann Arbor.

A Word About the Ann Arbor.

"As to Ann Arbor, there will be no consolidation with the Wheeling & Lake Erie. The ownership of the two properties is in such different hands that it is not likely that any other arrangement than that now in operation will be made. They will be operated together under close traffic agreements, and that is all. Ann Arbor will make no exclusive traffic arrangements with railroads on the western side of Lake Michigan. Probably a good deal of Ann Arbor freight will move via the Wisconsin Central, but there will be no agreement more binding than the ordinary exchange traffic agreement."

The other confirmation of The Gazette's publication came from Chief Engineer and General Manager J. W. Patterson of the Wabash extension into Pittsburgh in the shape of a formal official statement, reading as follows:

Manager Patterson's Statement.

"It is true this company has located, adopted and proposed to build a branch line on the South Side to reach the industries along the Monongahela river as far east as Jones & Laughlin, and to this end has purchased some property necessary and all that will be needed. The details of our plans are not of interest to the general public, and I do not care to state them at this time.

"I may say, however, that it is the purpose of the gentlemen promoting this project to be of real benefit to the shippers of Pittsburgh, and that they propose to have connection with and furnish transportation facilities for every manufacturing industry in this vicinity where it is possible.

"Pittsburgh's greatness as a manufacturing center is only limited by its want of transportation conveniences, and this company will contribute, as far as it can, to relieve such want. The connection with the Monongahela Connecting railroad will be satisfactory to both companies, but these details are not yet considered to be of public interest.

Opposition Is Merely Gossip.

"The alleged opposition of the Pennsylvania Company and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, as far as I know, is largely gossip; both of these companies are taxed largely in excess of their capacity to handle freight, and if our company was operating in this city today I do not think the receipts of either the Pennsylvania Company or the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad would be appreciably affected. We have adjusted our crossings with pem in a business way, and our relations are pleasant at this time.

"So far as our ordinances are concerned they will be presented to councils very soon. We are not asking any special privileges. We only want a fair field, and no favor, and expect nothing more than has already been given other railroads."

All explanation as to the plans by which the Wabash lines referred to by President Ramsey are to reach the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company's works at the upper end of the South Side is carefully avoided. On Sunday The Gazette, in a general way, explained how one line would come in from Bridgeville via Castle Shannon and Beeks run to the upper end of the city. President Ramsey says the other line will run direct from the new terminal near the Smithfield street bridge up the Monongahela.

Plan Calling for Heavy Grades.

The mouth of the tunnel on the face of Mt. Washington, out of which the Wabash trains will emerge to the great bridge that is to span the Monongahela, is almost 60 feet above the level of Carson street. One plan the Wabash is said to have under advisement builds the Jones & Laughlin Company branch from this tunnel mouth over and along Carson street, reducing it to such a level that it can pass beneath the Panhandle bridge between South First and South Second street.

Another plan said to be under consideration contemplates flaring the east side of the Mt. Washington tunnel or building a branch tunnel from the main hole a short distance back from the north end, so as to allow the tracks to curve away from the tunnel before the mouth is reached.

To drop this proposed line to a point where trains can pass beneath the Panhandle bridge would require, it would seem, in the short distance given, a grade of almost 3 per cent. This grade, while not prohibitive, is very heavy and only short trains can be hauled over it. The classification yards of the Wabash are to be back of Mt. Washington, however, and the long trains will be made up there.

In case the elevation is maintained and the tracks pass overhead across those of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, it entails a second-story freight station on the property bought. Freight elevators, however, are in common use and there would be little difficulty in this.

PRINCE CHEN SEES NEW YORK SIGHTS

Chinese Visitors are Given a Glimpse of Gotham by Officials.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Prince Chen visited the city hall today and was formally welcomed to the city by President Fornes of the board of aldermen, who is acting mayor in the absence of Mr. Low. The prince was accompanied by Third Assistant Secretary of State Pierce, Minister Wu Ting Fang, the new minister, Sir Liang, the Chinese consul and attaches of the Chinese legation at Washington. Escorted by a detachment of mounted police, the prince and his party were driven to the city hall from the Waldorf-Astoria about 3 p. m.

A visit was next made to the postoffice, where Postmaster Van Cott conducted the visitors through the office. Prince Chen spent a considerable time examining the system in detail.

The prince and party took a drive over the Brooklyn bridge, visited the subtreasury and proceeded to Chinatown. There an elaborate reception had been prepared and the streets were gayly decorated with flags and colored lanterns.

Prince Chen left tonight for Montreal in a special car. Sir Liang, speaking for the prince, said:

"His highness desires me to tell you that it is with deep gratitude in his heart that he now bids farewell to the hospitality of this nation. He is sorry that his stay here has been so brief and says that if it is possible he will visit this country during the St. Louis exposition. He desires me to thank you gentlemen, personally, and the people of the United States and its noble chief executive, President Roosevelt, in general, for their hospitality. He desires that you again express his gratitude and that of his government to President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay for the friendly feeling which this country has felt toward China."

Prince Chen will go direct to Vancouver and sail for China on August 18.

Shot by Jealous Woman.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Ida Rowe this morning went to the house of Mrs. Charles Wilson and fired three shots at her, wounding her twice in the right arm. Then she swallowed laudanum from a bottle she had in her hand. Before being taken away from her victim she strove desperately to shoot her again. Jealousy is supposed to be the cause.

William H. Is Launched.

JOHN S. RILLING SELECTED TO RUN STATE CAMPAIGN

Democratic Leaders Meet in Harrisburg and Lay Plans for the Fight.

TOUR OF SPELLBINDERS

Charles P. Donnelly in Council, but Not Trusted by Pattison—Candidate for Governor Will Organize His Own Campaign in Philadelphia.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 12.—The Democratic state campaign committee organized at state headquarters today by the election of John S. Rilling of Erie as chairman; J. Wood Clark of Indiana, secretary, and P. Gray Meek of Bellefont assistant secretary. State Chairman Creasy presided and there were present, besides the officers chosen, James K. P. Hall of Elk, Robert E. Wright of Lehigh, John B. Head of Westmoreland, Charles P. Donnelly of Philadelphia, James Kerr of Clearfield, and John P. Ancona of Berks.

The campaign will be formally opened by the notification of the state nominees at Reading on September 4, by a committee of 50 Democrats, one from each senatorial district in the state. This committee will be appointed by Mr. Wright, who was chairman of the recent state convention at Erie. During September the candidates will start on a tour of the state in a special train.

A meeting of the state executive committee was also held tonight at state headquarters to arrange the details of the campaign and discuss party matters.

While Pattison appears content to have Charles P. Donnelly serve as a member of Col. Guffey's campaign committee of eight, he does not trust him at home. Donnelly and Pattison have nothing in common. As a delegate to the Erie convention, Donnelly voted against Pattison and with his colleagues left the convention before a motion could be made to make Pattison's nomination unanimous. Donnelly even refused to go into Col. Guffey's room at Erie because Pattison was there.

Donnelly is chairman of the regular Democratic organization in Philadelphia. Whether he will waste much energy in behalf of Pattison this fall remains to be seen. Pattison evidently does not think he will, for the gubernatorial candidate has ignored him and his organization and is attempting to build one of his own in the Quaker city. He has intrusted the work to Eugene C. Bonniwell and rented headquarters. A campaign committee has been appointed and the campaign is to be conducted independent of Chairman Donnelly. Thomas J. Ryan and ex-Judge James Gay Gordon, who control whatever remains of the Democratic party in Philadelphia.

Just how Pattison hopes to win this fall with his own party in his own city against him was not one of the many weighty problems considered here today. Donnelly does not move with a brass band. He is more likely to give the impression that he submits to the treatment accorded him by Pattison and apparently remains a patriot. When the votes are counted in Philadelphia this fall there is a probability that the returns will indicate that Donnelly, Ryan and Gordon know how to resent an insult.

FAILED TO BREAK DEADLOCK.

Fruitless Ballot of Senatorial Conferees at Warren.

WARREN, PA., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—The senatorial conferees met at the Carver house this evening. Those in attendance were Sheriff Brann, former assemblyman from Parshall county, and Chairman Wilbur of Warren, Maj. Reed, Col. Rockards and Lyman Rhodes of Venango. Both candidates, Mr. Cummings and Col. Hulings, were present.

The ballot showed the same result as at Oil City two weeks ago. The conferees adjourned until morning. It is probable that the candidate must eventually be selected by the state committee. The vote was three for Cummings and three for Hulings, the Warren conferees voting for the former and the Venango representatives for the latter.

Bedford Nominations.

BEDFORD, PA., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—The Democratic county convention was held today and the following ticket was named: For congressman, E. F. Kerr; state senator, H. D. Tate; legislature, E. S. Doty, John T. Matt; prothonotary, James F. Mickel; sheriff, Charles A. Weltz; treasurer, John T. Miller; register and recorder, H. Grant Diehl; district attorney, Daniel S. Horn; commissioners, A. H. Egolf, George H. Appleman; director of poor, Lewis B. Ferry; auditors, E. A. Hershberger, J. E. Blackburn; coroner, Dr. Campbell.

ROBBERS BURN HOMES.

Owners Knocked Down as They Emerge and Their Treasure Taken.

BOISE, IDAHO, Aug. 12.—News was received here of an outrage committed by outlaws at Mormon Basin, in the Malheur country, in Eastern Oregon.

There was a settlement known as Chinatown, occupied by Chinese placer miners. The outlaws set fire to the houses occupied by the Chinese. The latter gathered their money and rushed out only to be met by the robbers, who knocked them down and relieved them of their treasure. Twenty-two houses were burned.

GENDARME UNHORSED.

Fight Results in Attempt to Close School at Geuezee.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The commissary at Lesneven, Finisterre, accompanied by a strong body of gendarmes, proceeded today to the village of Geuezee to expel the sisters from schools there. The schools were defended by a crowd armed with cudgels and stones.

One gendarme was unhorsed and the commissary was compelled to retire, but later he returned with a company of soldiers, who protected him while he closed the schools amid shouts of "Long Live Liberty."

Allegheny Man Injured.

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—George Wise of Allegheny, who is selling soda water apparatus, met with a bad accident near this city. He is here with his family for a vacation. While gunning he fell in such a way as to break his right ankle. He was seven miles from home and had a hard time getting to the office of a physician.

Carriage and Auto Collide.

The carriage of Louis Schulenberg of No. 909 North Euclid avenue, was run into by the automobile of Louis Maisack of Center avenue at Center and Penn avenues about 8:30 o'clock last evening. The shaft of the carriage was broken and the horse was thrown to the pavement. No one was injured.

Phoenixville, Pa., Aug. 12.—Nathan B. Bromall is one of Phoenixville's oldest and most highly respected citizens and the father of Virginia Earl Pennypacker, wife of the Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, Republican nominee for governor of Pennsylvania. The ex-judge and his wife were pupils of the Grovemont seminary and were, so it is said, lovers in their school days. Mr. Broomall is now in his 84th year, and is a very tall, patriarchal-looking old gentleman, with his long white beard.

He has been burgess, councilman, etc., of Phoenixville, and is the oldest living member of Phoenix lodge, No. 212, I. O. O. F., and a past master of Phoenix lodge, No. 76, F. and A. M.

JUDGE JACKSON RELEASES MINERS

CONTEMPT OF COURT SENTENCES ARE REVOKED.

West Virginia Strikers Claimed They Were Not Aware of Violating an Injunction and Promised Not to Repeat the Offense.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 12.—Judge Jackson this morning released Thomas G. Haggerty and six other members of the United Mine Workers who were serving 60 and 90 days in jail for contempt of court. The prisoners filed a petition for release, alleging that they had not known they were violating the injunction when they did so, and promising not to do so again. Attorneys for the coal companies opposed their release, but it was granted subject to rearrest to complete the original sentence if they violate the injunction again.

SHENANDOAH, PA., Aug. 12.—Antonio Klimowicz and Stanislaus Zukowsky, the Lithuanians arrested last week charged with participating in the riot in which Joseph Beddall of this place was killed, were today taken before Squire Shoemaker for a hearing on the charge of murder. The county officials changed the charge to assault and battery with intent to kill the workmen who were attacked on the day of the riot. The men were held in bail to answer at court. Peter Czywanie, another Lithuanian, was taken in custody today and held for the September term of court for rioting.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 12.—Five strikers, all members of Woodward local, United Mine Workers, of Edwardsville, were arraigned before Magistrate Pollock this evening charged with intimidating non-union workmen and rioting.

The commonwealth wanted the secretary of the local, James Owens, to produce the minutes of the July meeting of the local where it is alleged a motion was made that the members do picket duty at the mines and persuade the men who should attempt to go to work to return to their homes. Upon advice of counsel the secretary refused to produce the minute book and the magistrate held him in $100 bail for trial at court for contempt. The other defendants were held in $500 bail, which was furnished.

SCRANTON, Aug. 12.—While scouting around Throop late last night, when the smoke of the battle had subsided, Sheriff Schadt arrested a Hungarian with a shotgun. The prisoner was turned over to Warden W. T. Simpson of the county jail, who was one of the posse. The prisoner made a successful bolt for liberty while awaiting a car and the warden was summarily dismissed.

GOT TOO CLOSE TO SAFE.

Philadelphia Boy Arrested as a Suspicious Character.

Samuel Baker, 16 years old, of No. 914 Morris street, Philadelphia, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives James W. Egan and George Cole and locked up in the Central police station, on a charge of being a suspicious person. The detectives received a telephone call from the firm of Diamondstone, Davis & Lenman, No. 824 Liberty avenue, that a man just attempted to rob their safe.

When the detectives arrived they learned that Baker had attempted an old trick on the merchants. He had a companion who entered the store with him and while one engaged the clerk in conversation, the other slipped to the safe. The Philadelphia authorities were notified of Baker's arrest.

STRIKERS ARE ENJOINED.

Ohio Wood Workers Are Restrained by the Court.

PIQUA, O., Aug. 12.—On petition of the Snyder & Son Bent Wood Company the officers and members of the Amalgamated Wood Workers' association were enjoined today from interference with the employes or officers or agents of the company now in its employ, and from in any manner interfering with persons who may desire to enter the employ of the company by threats, personal violence, intimidation, etc. The petition will be heard October 1.

The injunction is the result of a strike among the woodworkers, which began three weeks ago.

WILSON DENIES STORY OF ARREST

OHIO DOCTOR WAS NOT FILIBUSTERING AGAINST NICARAGUA.

Was Surgeon in Colombian Navy Expedition Against Bluefields—President Zelaya Will Likely Have Some Tall Explaining to Do.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12.—In a letter to a cousin in this city, Dr. Russell Wilson of Norwalk, O., who was reported to have been condemned to death by the Nicaraguan government for participating in a filibustering expedition, says he has never been arrested and was never in danger.

"Several months ago I joined the Columbian regular army with the rank of major surgeon," Dr. Wilson writes. "Colombia and Nicaragua were at variance, and I was placed on board the gunboat General Pinzon as surgeon. We tried to land at Bluefields at night, but a high sea suddenly coming up, 50 men were only able to land, and at daybreak we were fired on from the forts and forced to retreat, leaving the 50 there.

"That may account for the story getting out that I was arrested. The expedition I was with was not a filibustering trip, but one under the direction of the regular Colombian army."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Zelaya of Nicaragua appears to have duped the United States in the case of Dr. Russell Wilson, who was supposed to have been captured in Nicaragua and sentenced to death for alleged participation in one of the semi-annual revolutionists in that country.

Several weeks ago the state department was informed that these things had happened, and proceeded to start the diplomatic machinery to obtain the young man's release.

Finally the department was informed that President Zelaya had graciously pardoned the doctor. Our representative in that country will be instructed to secure from the Nicaraguan foreign office a satisfactory explanation of the president's conduct.

MANHATTAN DISPUTE SETTLED.

Railroad Company and Its Employes Make Mutual Concessions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The national deputy grand chiefs of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, Youngson and Wilson, with the division chiefs and other local representatives of those organizations, in the employ of the Manhattan Elevated railroad, held another meeting today.

Vice President and General Manager Skitt of the Manhattan Railway company gave out the following statement:

"The matters in dispute were finally narrowed down to a question of hours for a day's work and the limit of 90 miles per day. The engineers waived the question of miles and the company conceded the nine hour day. Agreement was signed and conference ended."

Expelled From Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Lewin A. Wood of the firm of Edwards, Wood & Co., of St. Paul, charged with reporting fictitious trades, was expelled from the Chicago board of trade today by the directors. Transactions in grain carried through a Milwaukee house that neglected to make the required clearances formed the ground for the charges.

Hit Ricco With a Chair.

Joseph Yogalonos was lodged in jail about midnight by Constable J. M. Edmundson of Moon Run, charged with felonious assault and battery. It is alleged that he struck Bill Ricco, a fellow Italian, over the head with a chair during a fight at Ricco's home and seriously injured him.

KING REVIEWS HIS COLONIALS AT BUCKINGHAM

Pins Victoria Cross on Breast of Sergeant Lawrence, First Man Up.

TROOPERS ARE INFORMAL

After Receiving Medals, They Sit on Grass of Palace Grounds and Smoke, While Comrades Are Given Honors.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Aug. 12.—Two thousand Colonial troops, here to attend the coronation, were reviewed by King Edward this afternoon on the grounds of Buckingham palace.

The king inspected the troops from the terrace, where he was accompanied by Queen Alexandra, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia and other royal personages; Earl Roberts, the commander-in-chief; Gen. Lord Kitchener, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, several colonial premiers and King Levanika of Barotseland, all of whom showed keen interest in the picturesque body of men arrayed in vari-colored uniforms as they marched past in single file.

The king personally fastened the Victoria cross on the breast of Sergt. Lawrence, the first man in line, after which he retired to the shade of an awning and left the distribution of the coronation medals to the prince of Wales.

The members of the royal family were much amused at the unconventionality of the Colonials, who, after they had received medals, seated themselves comfortably on the grass and smoked as they watched the decoration of their comrades.

When all had received their medals the troops advanced and presented arms, while the massed bands played the national anthem. The king stepped forward and delivered an animated address, which was greeted with cheers and waving of hats.

"It has afforded me great pleasure to see you here today and to have the opportunity of expressing my high appreciation of your patriotism and the way you distinguished yourselves in South Africa," said the king. "The services you have rendered the mother country will never be forgotten by me, and they will, I am sure, cement more firmly than ever the union of our distant colonies with the other parts of my great empire. Your stay in England has been longer than originally intended, owing to my illness, but I hope you have enjoyed it and derived pleasure from visits to various parts of the land of your ancestors. God bless you all. I wish you a safe and pleasant return to your own countries."

King Edward, in the course of the day, granted audiences and presented gold coronation medals to five of the colonial premiers now in London.

NITED FOR THE FIGHT AGAINST WATER COMPANY

Residents of Hilltops and Boroughs Will Push Battle in Courts.

WISH CHARTER ANNULLED

The Patrons of the Chartiers Valley Water Company Will Have Grand Barbecue on August 23—Raising Funds for the Coming Struggle.

Discussion of the water supply question for the hilltop and boroughs in the Chartiers valley took up nearly the whole session of the Hilltop board of trade in Allentown last night. Representatives from Mt. Oliver, Knoxville, Sheraden, Ingram, Crafton and Carnegie had something to say about the failure of the Chartiers Valley Water Company to furnish an adequate and sufficiently pure supply of water.

The meeting was called to order by the president of the board, M. D. Layton. After some routine business had been transacted and 11 new members had been admitted the water question was taken up. Charles Poth, chairman of the water investigation committee, reported that the committee was gathering evidence tending to show that the water company was not living up to the requirements of its charter.

E. J. Gosser, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported that all the citizens who paid rent to the water company would meet on August 23 in McKinley park to express their indignation against the company and to participate in a grand barbecue of roast steer and mutton.

To Hold Big Gathering.

Mr. Gosser said three brass bands would be in attendance and that every participant in the meeting would be assured of having a good time. The alleged shortcomings of the water company will be shown up in speeches by fiery orators. F. M. McKelvey said that 2,000 tickets to the barbecue had been sold.

J. H. Burt, who attended a meeting at Sheraden, said that borough was stirred up over the shortcomings of the water company and had already taken testimony to that effect. A. L. Trautman of Sheraden said that the borough had already subscribed $700 for the fight and had entered suit.

E. J. Bechtel of Crafton read the contents of the bill in equity filed for the borough. He said that the flow from a 12-inch pipe, which utterly failed to furnish an adequate supply of water, had been further lessened by tapping it with a six-inch pipe, to supply water to the Wabash railroad contractors.

Will Make United Fight.

F. M. McKelvey made a motion that the board tender its support to Crafton and Sheraden to bring their suits to a successful conclusion, and this motion, amended by Mr. Gosser to bind Crafton and Sheraden, to aid the Hilltop in legal proceedings for the general benefit, was adopted. J. W. Stenger of Mt. Oliver, W. J. Pickles of Crafton Terrace and John Weber of the Twenty-seventh ward voiced the grievances of their respective localities.

After the meeting adjourned the ways and means committee held a session, at which representatives of the boroughs were present. It was unanimously decided that all the aggrieved localities come together at the barbecue, that somebody from each of the boroughs and townships make a speech and that all work together to arouse their communities and raise funds for a big fight in the courts.

In the meantime the gathering of usual information will not be neglected. The board of trade's investigating committee will meet each Monday evening in Alderman Black's office to receive complaints of the water supply. A stenographer has been employed to take testimony and a full list of witnesses will be subpoenaed.

HEATER IS TO CLOSE FOR MRS. VANDERBILT

Will Transport Whole Company to Newport to Entertain Her Guests on August 25.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—There will be something that goes a bit beyond anything before attempted in the way of private theatricals when Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt gives her entertainment at Sunken in Newport on August 24. Friends of this young society leader who learned of some of her plans and they are duly surprised, for a feature of them will be the closing of a New York theater for one evening and the appearance of the entire company on her stage at Newport.

"The Wild Rose" is the play chosen for this "one night stand," and it is the Knickerbocker theater that will be darkened. The first act of the musical comedy, with various interpolated numbers for the second act, will be given with a full cast, which will go to Newport on August 24 and return to New York by special train after the performance.

POLICEMEN MURDERED.

Chicago Officers Were Shot Down in the Street by Supposed Robbers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Officers Timothy Devine and Charles T. Pennell, patrolmen of the Chicago police department, were killed here early today in a revolver battle with what is supposed to have been a gang of thugs. Much mystery surrounds the shooting, for both men died before an adequate account of the affair could be obtained. Devine in the ambulance on the way to the hospital and Pennell on the operating table while surgeons were probing for bullets.

The fight occurred just before dawn on Jackson boulevard and Ashland avenue, in the aristocratic section of the West Side. The shots aroused the neighborhood. Citizens who heard the dying policemen groan rushed to their assistance and saw men running away.

Officer Pennell staggered a hundred feet to a patrol box and sent in an alarm for assistance. At once the police set a dragnet for all suspicious characters and had six men in custody. Before Pennell died he was able to gasp out a few words about "robbers," giving descriptions of two men.

Coal Will Be Dearer.

Because of the miners' strike, coal—anthracite and bituminous—will be dearer this winter. Non-consumers of natural gas should see the wisdom of changing at once. Gas is cheaper, safer and cleaner than coal. The Philadelphia Company will set meter and make connections free of charge to all who apply for gas this month. Ask about it at 619 Wood street.

M'QUAIDE'S GUARD FOR PRISONERS

CONTRIVANCE OF ALUMINUM AND STEEL TO PREVENT ESCAPES.

Officer Could Sleep While Captive Would Be Unable to Make Violent Move. Repetition of Sisco Incident Would Be Impossible.

Former City Detective Thomas McQuaide has recently completed an invention for transporting prisoners over the country that practically precludes any possibility of an escape, such as was made from Detective William McElroy on Sunday. The officer can fasten the apparatus on his prisoner and leave him with absolute safety on the train, knowing that he cannot jump through the train window or "crawl over him, while in the berth," or strike and injure him.

Detective McQuaide has been working on the invention for some time. It is made of steel and aluminum and fits on the prisoner's waist, hands and ankles. The prisoner can walk about with ease, the fittings are light and are worn without attracting any apparent attention. They are fitted on the prisoner, however, so that he can only make certain movements. If the apparatus is fitted on him to walk, he cannot run. The fastenings on his hands are so placed that he can eat and help himself along comfortably. But if he should make any attempt to strike the officer, or raise his arms above his head, the fittings about his hands and ankles would stiffen and hold them in the extended position.

The prisoner can be practically brought into submission without even necessitating the raising of the officer's hand.

Mentor of Steel.

The appliance fits about the prisoner's waist, and ankle and hand fastening connect directly with the waistband. These fittings about the hands and ankles are gauged so that the prisoner can go about in a comfortable manner. If the prisoner make a movement that would extend beyond the gauge tensions, the apparatus clamps there and stiffens. The prisoner is then held fast. The fastening on his leg would hold the limb in identically the same place as it was when the gauge clamps are extended.

If the prisoner should attempt to run and raised his knee, the limb would be held in identically that position.

The only way that the prisoner could get the limb back in its usual position would be by the aid of the officer. In case the prisoner should make an attempt to hit the officer, and draw back his arm, that limb would be held fast in that position.

Cannot Assault Guard.

Should the prisoner, while riding in the train, attempt to jump through the window and bend his body in preparation to make the leap, the apparatus would stiffen and his body would be retained in the bended position.

The invention practically precludes any possibility of an escape and insures the safety of the officer from assaults of his prisoner. A small boy could take a prisoner from one coast to the other with absolute safety. The prisoner can travel for days on the train without becoming exhausted by the present custom of being handcuffed to the officer, and the officer is also relieved of this fatigue.

The most dangerous and powerful criminal could be conveyed for miles and miles in trains and it would be impossible for him to inflict any bodily harm on his captor. The invention is a timely and thoughtful one. Officers are forced to suffer great fatigue by reason of the inadequate methods now used in transporting prisoners.

OIL BURNING SHIP MAKES GOOD SPEED

Trip of Liner Mariposa Shows Great Future for Petroleum for Fuel on Ocean Vessels.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The Oceanic Steamship Company's oil burning liner Mariposa arrived yesterday from Tahiti, a day before she was expected. The record of her voyage is a tribute to the wisdom of the step taken in deposing old king coal and substituting the liquid fuel for the furnaces.

She reached port with her paint work fresh and her decks as clean as those of a well-scrubbed yacht. Officers and crew were jubilant over the success of the new fuel. Lieut. Wenchell of the United States navy, who is chief engineer of the cruiser Boston and was detailed by the navy department to accompany the Mariposa, expresses himself as delighted with the liner's behavior.

The voyage of the Mariposa was watched with interest by the entire shipping world and the success, it is believed, will mean the conversion to oil burners of a large number of vessels and the abandonment of coal as fuel by the mercantile marine.

G. S. Grundell, one of the patentees of the oil burning system used on the Mariposa, made the trip to Tahiti and back to watch the system in practical operation. His verdict is most favorable.

No attempt was made to crowd the steamship at all, but she made the homeward voyage in 10 days, 21 hours and 10 minutes.

HUMANIC WILL RECOVER.

Four of His Countrymen Held for Felonious Assault.

John Hadilak, Michael Mihall, John Dubroak and John Zapako were yesterday committed to jail by Magistrate Runneshagen of Allegheny, on a charge of felonious assault, made by Police Superintendent Muth of Allegheny. The men will be held to await the result of the injuries of Andrew Humanic of No. 2 Esther street, whose skull is fractured.

The informations are the result of a fight, late Monday night, at a Hungarian wedding in Marshall avenue, Allegheny, in which Humanic and John Zapako of California avenue were injured. Zapako was removed to the jail from the Allegheny General hospital, after the information was made against him. At the hospital it is said that Humanic will probably recover.

WARM WELCOME GIVEN FIREMEN IN JEANNETTE

Town in Gala Attire for the Annual Convention of Volunteers.

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICES

Contest Has Already Begun for President—Beaver Falls and Kittanning Are in the Field for the Next Meeting.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Jeannette, Pa., Aug. 12.—"Pretty good for a 10-year-old town," is what the volunteer firemen said as they reached the "Glass City" today to attend the annual convention of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's association. Much was promised last year when the convention was held at Uniontown. The promise of a good time is being fulfilled by the local firemen and the citizens' committee. The out-of-town fire fighters are getting the glad hand on all sides.

This was the opening day of the convention. Delegates and members of the departments in the various towns are here in large numbers. They spent most of the day sightseeing, and there is plenty to see. The town is in gala attire, with red, white and blue bunting, flags and wreaths, while there are arches of all kinds. The streets have taken on the air of a Midway and street carnival, and are crowded with merrymakers.

As for the fakirs, they are here by the dozens, Diamond alley, Pittsburgh, furnishing its full quota.

But a small part of the day was given over to the opening session of the convention, which was held in Turner hall. First Vice President W. A. Griffiths of Greensburg presided in the absence of President C. F. Hyde of Evans City, who is in California. Burgess A. L. Bethune delivered the address of welcome and handed over the proverbial key to the city. Vice President Griffiths responded.

Tomorrow until 4 o'clock will be given over to business. There are officers to elect and a selection to be made of the town in which next year's convention will be held. For president E. J. Perry of Greensburg is prominently spoken of. S. M. Beatty of Scottdale and C. B. Everett of Latrobe are hustling to be elected vice presidents. Beaver Falls and Kittanning have boomers here for next year's convention, and are making strong bids.

After tomorrow evening the spectacular part of the convention will engage the attention of the visitors. At night there will be a parade of Oakford park and Thursday the parade will take place, with races to follow on Friday morning.

Tonight the town is brilliantly lighted and the revelers are in possession of the streets. Before the business of the convention was concluded this evening a committee was appointed to wire a greeting to President Hyde at Orange, Cal., with the wish for the speedy recovery of his wife, who is ill there.

CHAUTAUQUA.

Dr. George Vincent Finds Much That Interests in More's "Utopia."

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Dr. George E. Vincent is giving a course of lectures on "Utopias." The theme of the second lecture, delivered today, was Sir Thomas More's "Utopia."

After outlining in brief the times in which Sir Thomas lived, Mr. Vincent said the book had a three-fold purpose: to explain More's unwillingness to serve as the king's counselor; to criticise the existing condition of affairs in England, and to suggest reforms and remedies for these conditions.

While people in these times derided the "dream" as the wildest flight of imagination, many lessons are to be learned from it, and many of its suggestions are now in practice, not only in England, but in the United States and other countries.

In this work the labor problem is settled and satisfactorily for all parties. The wants of these people are so simple that six hours a day is the limit, and the wage question is settled by a common distribution of necessary supplies to each one. Crime and its punishment, so important a question in these days, was fully decided by More when he said:

"The crime and the criminal are to be studied, and the latter to be put in a position to reform and again take his proper place in society which he has lost only temporarily."

There was the utmost toleration in religious matters. A man should believe as he wished, but while theology was freely discussed, it was forbidden to be done so in the presence or hearing of the youth, and Mr. Vincent added that in his opinion there would be fewer infidels and athesists among the men of today if the subject of higher criticism, vexed questions on the theology, were discussed exclusively by those who had reached the years of discretion.

Sanitary conditions, hospitals, education of children are all taken up in this wonderful book in a most modern manner. In conclusion the speaker said:

"While I cannot agree with all that he has related, there are many things in the commonwealth of Utopia that I rather wish than hope to see followed in our governments."

Named for Congress.

DOYLESTOWN, PA., Aug. 12.—Charles E. Ingersoll of Perkiyn was today nominated for congress by the Democrats of the Seventh district.

ALLEN HELD FOR THE KING MURDER

RESULT OF CORONER'S INQUEST INTO CURRAN SALOON TRAGEDY.

Man Captured by Detective Roach at Findlay Is Positively Identified as Slayer of Achsah King—Remanded to Await Grand Jury.

Coroner McGeary yesterday morning held his inquest into the murder of Achsah King, in Curran's saloon, at Wylie and Sixth avenues, on the afternoon of July 23, for which Joseph Allen was arrested at Findlay, O.

At the conclusion of the investigation Allen was held for murder to await the action of the grand jury. The man acted thoroughly unconcerned when the finding of the coroner's jury was announced, and showed no emotion when he was removed to jail.

The inquest was held at 11 o'clock. Allen was taken from the jail by Detective John Roach and Deputy Coroner Louis Huckel. He was unkempt and his short growth of beard gave him an unprepossessing look. Before the hearing commenced Detective Roach handed him a letter from his sister, Mrs. Paxton, of Findlay. The communication promised him all the aid that she and her husband could tender.

Nellie Reed was the first witness called. She was an actual witness to that tragedy. Her identification of Allen as the man who did the killing was positive. She said that Allen followed the King woman into the room and asked her "if she intended keeping up the bluff." Then he struck the woman twice. She fell to the floor and he made a hasty exit.

Coroner McGeary asked Allen to stand up and Nellie Reed said: "That's the man who killed Achsah King."

Annie Collins was next called. She told of having been in company with the King woman and Allen during the early part of the day. Detective Roach testified as to the capture of Allen and of the evidence he had gathered against him.

The jury was out only a short time when they returned with a verdict, holding Allen as the slayer of Achsah King. Coroner McGeary told Allen to stand up while he read the finding of the jury to him. After the coroner had finished Allen grinned and sat down.

The women witnesses were informed they would be held as witnesses and would be committed to jail unless they could give bail. They were unable to get bail and were taken to the jail.

Deputy Coroner Huckel approached Allen and told him that he was ready to take him to jail. Allen looked up and hurriedly fumbled through his pockets. With one hand he brought out a match and the other a toby. He scratched the match on his trousers and coolly bit the end off the toby and lit it. He then squared back his shoulders and went with the officers.

WIRE FENCE COMPANY PLANS IMPROVEMENTS

The Page Concern Will Increase Capacity of Monessen Plant, Expending $1,000,000.

The Page Woven Wire Fence Company is planning gigantic improvements at its plant in Monessen, which will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. Cody & McMunn of New York are arranging to sell $1,750,000 of the issue of $2,000,000 bonds authorized by the company under its recent reorganization. The bonds are redeemable in 20 years and bear interest at 5 per cent. They are secured by a sinking fund of not less than $100,000 a year.

In connection with the offer of the New York brokers to sell these bonds an interesting statement of the company's affairs has been issued. In it there is promise of a yearly surplus of $700,000. It is shown that the total sales of the company for the year 1901 were $2,803,865, of which $1,371,186 was of the products of the Monessen plant and the rest from the plant at Adrian, Mich. Net profits were $372,944, and after the deduction of interest and extraordinary expenses the surplus is shown as $341,568. Fence sales for the three months, ending with March, are reported as showing an increase of 81 per cent.

The Adrian plant has a capacity of over 65 tons of woven wire fence each 24 hours. The Monessen plant starts with the pig iron as raw material, produces 100 tons of steel, 200 tons of steel rods and upward of 150 tons of galvenized wire daily. This plant is equipped with looms for weaving fence. It is estimated that the net profit this year will be $900,000, and with interest charges deducted, about $100,000, and the sinking fund, $100,000, the surplus is figured to $700,000.

Recent advancement of the company's business affairs is remarkable in point of it so recently emerging from its financial trouble. Sales of the Adrian plant increased from $740,142 in 1900 to $1,532,-670 last year, according to accounts certified to by the New York Audit Company.

Improvements at the Monessen plant have just been completed that make the wire capacity 200 tons daily. A new heating furnace of 100 tons daily capacity has been added, with costly mechanism for cleaning the rods. The rod mills are now closed for about two weeks during the installation of machinery for handling ingots.

The company has a capital issue of $1,000,000 preferred stock calling for cumulative dividends at the rate of 7 per cent. The common stock issue is $5,000,000.

FOUND DYNAMITE BOMBS.

Plot to Destroy a County Infirmary Is Discovered in Indiana.

DECATUR, IND., Aug. 12.—A plot to destroy the Adams county infirmary and to kill the 44 inmates was unearthed today.

A. W. Butler, secretary of the state board of charities, was making an inspection of the buildings and in the room of Charles Echerman he found a pile of rubbish which he ordered removed.

Buried beneath the rubbish 60 pounds of dynamite, two two-pound dynamite bombs and 115 feet of fuse were found. Echerman has been an inmate of the infirmary for more than 12 years and recently was reprimanded. Since that time he has been sulky.

When the discovery of the dynamite was made today Echerman disappeared and no trace of him can be found. It is known that he has a dynamite bomb with him.

AN APOLOGY IS DEMANDED FROM A MAGISTRATE

Controller Larkin Appealed to to Redress Young Woman's Wrongs.

EVA BROWN'S GRIEVANCES

Treated in a Brutal Manner by East End Police and Unjustly Fined by Magistrate Armstrong—She and Her Friends to Have Justice.

Unless an ample apology is made and the amount of a fine he imposed is refunded, Police Magistrate John H. Armstrong is likely to be taken into court by Eva May Brown, who was fined by that magistrate on August 8 on a charge of street walking. Friends of the young woman have taken up the matter with Controller John B. Larkin, who says he is powerless, officially, to do anything, but who will personally employ a lawyer to proceed against the magistrate. Director A. H. Leslie of the department of public safety is to be given an opportunity to act before the controller and the young woman's friends resort to drastic measures.

Eva May Brown is employed at the Central hotel in the East End. She was passing from the hotel on the evening of August 8 to a restaurant nearby where she was to meet a woman friend who is employed in the restaurant, and whose duties require her to be at her place until 10 o'clock at night. She was walking to the restaurant when an officer accosted her and told her she was under arrest for street walking.

Explanations Not Accepted.

She explained to the blundering bluecoat where she was going, and that it was not yet 10 o'clock, but the patrolman would not pay any attention to her story, called a patrol wagon, and had her sent to the station.

Miss Brown was able to get word to her friends concerning her predicament, and finally enough money was secured and tendered as a forfeit to secure her release. A fresh difficulty presented itself. The desk sergeant would not accept a forfeit. He was obdurate and the result was that the young woman was compelled to spend the night in the police station in company with all kinds of characters, and, as it was a prolific night for drunks, her feelings can be better imagined than described.

In the morning she was arraigned before Magistrate Armstrong on a charge of street walking. The magistrate was not feeling his best and the prisoner was scarcely able to understand what he said to her. He finally made it clear that he had imposed a fine of $1 and costs. The woman was held at the station until she secured from her room in the Central $4 60 with which she paid the fine and costs and was released.

Larkin Hears Young Woman's Story.

Yesterday she carried her troubles to Controller Larkin, who turned a willing ear to her tale of misfortune. "I cannot understand," she said, "why it is that I was arrested. I was passing quietly along the street, paying no attention to any one, and I am sure that that is the first time that a policeman ever saw me on the street after nightfall. It was only 9:30 o'clock, anyway. It was something of a puzzle to me when I was informed after I had been released of the same policeman assisting two men and two women to their homes at 12:30 o'clock at night when all of them were intoxicated. "The money that was required to pay my fine was all the money I had in the world. I am an orphan, and must support myself. I am sure that I never did anything wrong, especially nothing that would lead to my being arrested. I have behaved myself all the time, and I think it a shame that a girl like me must be arrested and pass a night in a police station when questionable characters are tenderly cared for by the police. I think that my fine ought to be refunded, and an apology ought to be made."

Controller Larkin notified Director Leslie that some amends would have to be made, and that promptly, and said if the director did not act he would employ an attorney to go after Magistrate Armstrong.

BEATEN, STABBED, LAID ON TRACKS

SANTO GALLANO'S INJURIES RESULTED IN DEATH LAST NIGHT.

Lingered for Weeks and Charged Two of His Countrymen With Felonious Assault and Battery—Released on $1,500 Bail, They Were Recaptured Last Night.

Coroner McGeary was notified last night that Santo Gallano, the Italian who was brutally assaulted by two of his countrymen on July 20, died last night of his injuries at his home in McKees Rocks. Gallano was stabbed and beaten. After he became unconscious he was carried by his assailants to the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and laid across the rails, to be crushed to death by a passing train.

He regained consciousness a few minutes before a train passed and rolled off the rails out of danger. He was carried by the train crew back to McKees Rocks, and was taken to the McKees Rocks hospital. The next day Gallano made information against Peter Tantanlorosa and Antonio Susa before Justice of the Peace W. R. Nicholson, charging them with felonious assault and battery. They were committed to jail without bail to await the injuries of Gallano. It was learned at the jail last night that they were released on $1,500 bail.

Gallano died yesterday, and when Coroner McGeary attempted to locate his assailants he discovered them missing. Deputy Coroner Charles Bender was detailed on the case and late last night located Tantanlorosa and Susa in McKees Rocks and put them under arrest.

Justice of the Peace Nicholson says that he never gave any release for the men and was at a loss to know how they gained their liberty from the jail. The record there shows they were released by order of the court on $1,500 bail.

CAUGHT A TARTAR.

Policeman Who Sought to Add to His Arrest List and Curry Favor Met With Rebuff.

Policemen who desire to ingratiate themselves with the administration faction by making numerous arrests continue to intrude on the private rights of citizens to accomplish their purpose. The most flagrant instance of this was shown yesterday morning, at the hearing in the police court before Magistrate McGarey.

George B. Armstrong, Jr., of No. 5 Devilliers street, son of G. B. Armstrong, one of the wealthy residents of the Eleventh ward, was arrested on Monday night by Officer P. G. Bailey, while standing in front of his father's feed store at No. 1714 Center avenue. Young Armstrong had been told by his father to remain in front of the store and watch some rattraps.

Officer Bailey ordered young Armstrong from in front of the building. Armstrong refused to go and told the officer who he was and his business there. Bailey placed Armstrong under arrest and took him to No. 2 police station.

Officer Bailey was unable to tell the desk sergeant what charge he wanted lodged against Armstrong. A charge of violating a city ordinance was placed on the docket and Armstrong put up a forfeit and was released. At the hearing he was not permitted to testify against Bailey. When Bailey was giving his testimony he became so confused that Magistrate McGarey discharged Armstrong.

QUAY RECEIVES MANY MESSAGES ABOUT STRIKE

Whole Country Anxious for Senator to Help Settle Anthracite Difficulty.

RAILROAD MEN TO MEET

High Officials of Leading Companies Expected to Confer With Pennsylvanian on Miners' Contest. Hon. William Brown a Caller.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 12.—Senator Quay's offer to do everything in his power to bring about a settlement of the anthracite miners' strike has attracted widespread attention. This is evidenced by the many messages received here from all sections of the country asking for further information.

Tonight the senator told The Gazette representative that he had not yet heard from George Llewellyn, chairman of the Citizens' Alliance of Wilkesbarre, who is seeking the aid of prominent men in an effort to bring the miners and operators into agreement. It is presumed that Mr. Llewellyn returned to his home from Philadelphia, after learning that the senator had been disabled by the scalding of his foot.

The presidents, vice-presidents and the general superintendents of the railroads of the United States, will meet in convention tomorrow at the Royal Palace hotel. It is reported that they will hold a conference with Senator Quay regarding the anthracite strike, with the object of settling the difficulty. The convention will be in session two days.

Richard Quay arrived at the cottage today to keep his father company until he is again able to go about. The senator's injured foot is steadily improving, but still requires dressing and care, the senator keeping it propped up on a chair while he smokes, reads or receives visitors.

The Hon. William Brown, Republican candidate for the lieutenant-governorship of Pennsylvania, was a caller at the Quay cottage tonight. He has been in Atlantic City for several days, and it is given out that there is no special significance in his calls at the temporary home of the state chairman.

Senator Quay says he has not yet heard anything regarding Judge Pennypacker's reply to the committee representing the Citizens' party of Pittsburgh.

Mary Carrington of the Duquesne Garden Company Gets a Bit of Pleasing Information.

Mary Carrington, the prima donna soubrette of the summer stock opera company at the Duquesne garden, has received the pleasing information that by the death of an old friend of the family she is one of the heirs to a very valuable estate, located at Salt Lake and Park City, Utah, consisting of lands containing valuable mineral and ore beds.

Several weeks ago there appeared in the Deseret News and the Daily Herald, of Salt Lake City, an advertisement making inquiries for the whereabouts of one Mary Carrington, an actress. The advertisement attracted the keen eye of Sallie Fisher, a former acquaintance of Miss Carrington, and a member of last year's "Chaperone" company, who is visiting her home in Salt Lake City. Miss Fisher wrote to Miss Carrington, enclosing the advertisement.

Miss Carrington at once put herself in correspondence with the attorneys at Salt Lake City who had advertised. Last evening she received a letter containing the information that one Francis Janes, who at one time was a former business associate of Miss Carrington's father in Brooklyn, died two years ago and left a will giving all his property to a nephew, two nieces and Miss Carrington. The letter stated that provided she could establish her identity as being the Mary Carrington wanted, she would find herself quite an heiress.

Miss Carrington said yesterday that she had very little recollection of her benefactor, but remembered distinctly that some years ago her father and Janes were engaged in the lumber business in Brooklyn, and that Janes visited the house frequently and always seemed very fond of her. During one of these visits Miss Carrington says her mother has since informed her, Janes said he expected to go west and some day become a rich man, and in the event of his acquiring wealth he would send east for Mary and adopt her. That was some 15 years ago. Janes went west, and for several years the family kept track of him, but for more than 10 years his whereabouts have been unknown, so that naturally the information just received caused a flutter in the heart of the fair young actress.

USE THE OLD BULBS.

Pittsburghers Have Brought an Innovation Into Incandescent Lamp Trade.

The Pittsburgh Incandescent Lamp Company is a new industry in Pittsburgh which will not only manufacture electric incandescent lamps by a new and improved process, but also refill burned-out lamps. The company has been chartered under Pennsylvania laws, with initial capital of $25,000. The officers are J. B. Tomb, president, and W. A. Hilands, secretary and treasurer. Back of the enterprise is a number of well-known Pittsburghers, whose identity is withheld for the present. The company has started to operate a temporary plant in the Arrott power building in Barkers alley. At this plant 1,000 lamps are made or refilled each day. In a short time a big new plant is to be erected and the capital investment of the company much enlarged.

The company is said to have effectually solved the problem of avoiding the waste of throwing away the incandescent globes when the filament has been burned out or broken. The new company makes use of the old bulb and the socket, replacing the exhausted filament and making the lamp as good as new. By this method there is a substantial saving and a growing business has already been established.

The company manufactures the Keystone incandescent lamp after its own system. John Wright, who for many years was connected with the Sawyer-Man Incandescent Electric Lamp Company, developed the new process of refilling burned-out lamps. Mr. Hilands, the secretary-treasurer of the company, was formerly with the Westinghouse Electric Light and Manufacturing Company.

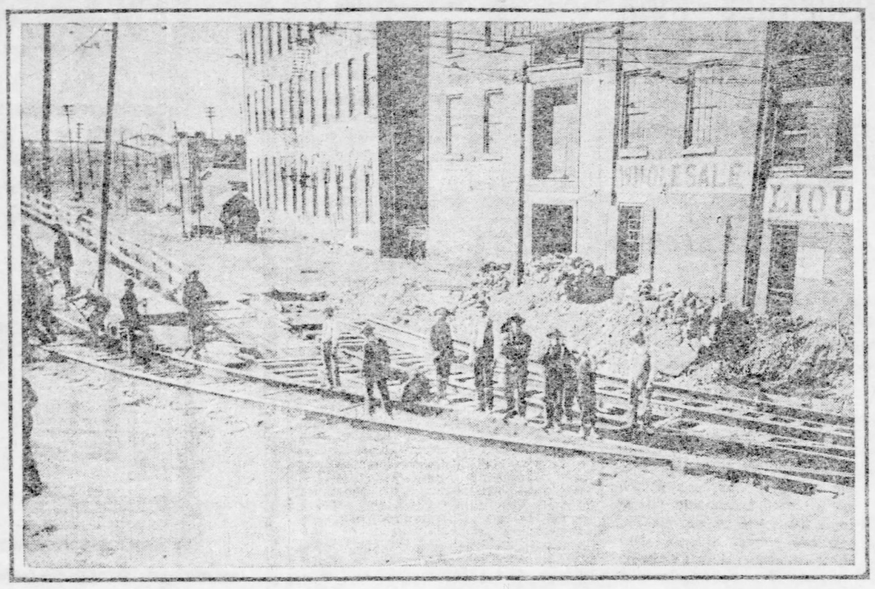
TRACTION MAGNATES PREPARING TO SCOOP IN THEIR SHARE OF EXPOSITION NICKELS



A busy scene was presented yesterday at the corner of Penn avenue and Water street, where the Pittsburgh Railways Company has a large force of men at work. New steel has been laid on the most approved roadbed from the corner of Penn avenue and Fifth street, and the work is being continued over the Point bridge. So that the Exposition service may be better, the new rail is being continued around the corner in Water street. The company is making arrangements to handle the Exposition crowds in a more satisfactory manner than ever before, and it is about time a move was being made in this direction, for a more disgraceful, antiquated piece of track never existed in a city where things are supposed to be modern and up-to-date than the curve around the Point, from the Exposition buildings to the Penn avenue lines, has been for a number of years.

WATER TOO HIGH FOR RAPID WORK ON THE RIVERS

Captain Sibert Reports to Washington on Progress in This District.

FRESHETS CAUSE DELAY

Damage Considerable to Herrs Island Dam and Much Time Is Spent on Repairs—Preliminary Surveys Are Made on Lock No. 3.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 12.

The report of Capt. W. L. Sibert, engineer in charge of the Pittsburgh district, for the month of July was made public at the war department today. Regarding the various projects he reports as follows:

Pittsburgh harbor — Lines were marked on the Allegheny river between the Union bridge and Sixteenth street bridge and the patrol inspection and supervisory work maintained on the banks and rivers. Similar work will be carried on during the present month.

Allegheny river—Owing to the damage done to the Herrs island dam by the freshets early in July the remainder of the month was consumed in repair work and no progress was made. Likewise the construction of the maneuvering boat was delayed. No construction work was performed at Six Mile Island dam, but plans for lock were completed. The main concrete cove wall of abutment was nearly finished, and most of the gravel filling placed at the Springdale dam, but high water delayed construction work. Progress on all dams is expected during this month.

Monongahela river—Locks and dams Nos. 1 to 9—General repair work was carried on, but was retarded by high water. The coal shipments were extensive. Better progress is expected this month on all the repair work. On locks 3 and 6 good progress has been made in preliminary work, and also on the floating plant. Preliminary surveys have been completed for the rebuilding of lock No. 2 and to determine the most advantageous location for the new double locks and new dam, as authorized recently by congress, but sites have not been selected on the six new locks and dams on the upper part of the river. Some progress has been made, but high water caused delay.

Davis island dam—For high water at this point July broke the record. The coal shipments, 1,123,991 tons, were the highest on record. Under the circumstances good progress was made on the work on this dam. It will expedited from now on.

INSANE WOMAN SEEKS THE PRESIDENT'S WIFE

Wants to Interest Her in Charitable Institution in New York. Held at Detention Hospital.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Marguerita Muscan of New York, a native of Roumania, was sadly disappointed today when she called at the White House and was informed that Mrs. Roosevelt was at Oyster Bay. The woman came here to interest the president's wife in a scheme to build and operate a charitable organization in the metropolis.

She was directed to police headquarters, where two physicians interviewed her, and upon a certificate signed by them the woman was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital for the insane to await inquiry into her mental condition.

"I sent Mrs. Roosevelt three letters," Mrs. Muscan said, "but she did not answer them, and I came on to see her."

To the officers she expressed surprise at not finding Mrs. Roosevelt here. She spent several hours at the house of detention and went with an officer to the asylum without the slightest objection.

DEMOCRATS SEEK HARMONY IN COURT

GREEN AND KLINE FIGHTING FOR CONGRESSIONAL PLUM.

Each Accuses Other of Having Been Illegally Nominated—State Committee Prepares for Trip to Every County in Search of Votes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., Aug. 12.—The dispute between the Democrats of Berks and Lehigh counties over the selection of a candidate for congress in the Thirteenth district was taken into the Dauphin county court today to determine whether Congressman Henry D. Green of Reading or Marcus C. L. Kline of Allentown is the party nominee.

The initiative was taken by Congressman Green, who filed objections to the certificate of nomination of Mr. Kline, who subsequently entered objections to the certificate of his rival. Green alleges that the meeting of Lehigh conferees at Allentown last Tuesday was irregular.

Kline filed practically the same objections to the certificate of his opponent, who was nominated by the votes of the Berks conferees at a meeting at Allentown last Tuesday. Each candidate alleges that the other's nomination was not made in accordance with the party rules.

The prospects are that the court will throw out both certificates. In that event it will be necessary to hold another conference and attempt a nomination. Neither side shows any disposition to compromise and unless they come together after the court's decision the state executive committee will take the matter in charge and attempt a settlement.

Ex-Governor Pattison and his associates on the Democratic state ticket will be formally notified of their nomination at Reading on September 4. The notification meeting will be in charge of a committee of 50 prominent Democrats, one from each senatorial district, to be appointed by Robert E. Wright of Allentown, chairman of the Erie state convention.

About the middle of September the state nominees, accompanied by five or six speakers, will start on a campaign tour of the state in a special train, to be gone until the Saturday previous to the election. The party will visit every county and wherever possible night meetings will be held at the county seat, with afternoon gatherings in nearby towns.

This program was agreed upon at a meeting of the state campaign committee this afternoon and approved by the state executive committee at a meeting tonight. The campaign committee organized by the election of John S. Rilling of Erie, president; J. Wood Clark of Indiana, secretary, and ex-Senator P. Gray Meek of Bellefonte, assistant secretary.

WENT TO ATLANTIC CITY.

American Window Glass Officials Start for Conference Which May Agree to Hold Up Prices.

President James A. Chambers, Vice President William Loeffler and Secretary E. I. Phillips of the American Window Glass Company left last night for Atlantic City to be present at the conferences which are expected to bring harmony among the producers and jobbers. The American company directors and executive committee held a conference yesterday to outline the company's policy at the meetings. This and the declaring of the regular semi-annual dividend on the preferred stock was all the business transacted.

In connection with the Atlantic City meetings the new Federation Window Glass Company is to finally perfect its selling agency organization. This has been deferred while an effort was on to draw all the independent and co-operative concerns outside of the American and the Independent companies into the organization.

On Friday, probably, a general conference of jobbers and manufacturers will take place, and it is expected that an agreement will be made which will hold prices during the coming fire.

It is now unlikely that the Independent company can carry out its plan of starting the factories on September 1 and to maintain its independent attitude in the trade. A conflict over the wage scale is partly responsible. At the annual meeting of this company plans will be made to reorganize it, or it may be dissolved, and it is said that Secretary H. B. Van Cleve, with possibly other executors, will drop out from the management.

ONE BURIED ALIVE.

Belief of Investigation of Murder of Four School Teachers Near Cebu July 10.

MANILA, Aug. 12.—An investigation made by the constabulary to clear up the facts in the killing of a Cebu coaching party of four school teachers on July 10 shows that the party was ambushed 12 miles from Cebu.

Two teachers were shot and killed at the first volley, a third, who ran, was shot in the back, and a fourth, who was captured, was shot in the chest while he was praying for mercy.

It is suspected that the fourth man was buried alive, as his wound was slight and probably would not have caused death. Dogs dug up two of the bodies and devoured the flesh. It is believed that sufficient evidence has been secured to convict all the participants in the crime.

Patrol Wagon Struck a Car.

Patrol wagon No. 6, while being driven from the East End police station to the Oakland station yesterday morning, ran into a North Highland avenue street car at Craig and Henry streets. The car front was damaged, the wagon tongue broken and the wagon driver, John Dalzell, was thrown to the street. He was taken, badly bruised, to his home. The report made by the car conductor to the Pittsburgh Railways Company attributes the accident to Dalzell's reckless driving.

AIR RESISTANCE HARDEST FACTOR TO BE OVERCOME

German Engineers Making Practical Tests of High-Speed Electric Trains.

HEAVY WEIGHT ON RAILS

Pounding of Motor Engines Greater Than Steam as There Are No Springs to Relieve It—Experiments Arranged for Next Year.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—In a report in April last, Frank H. Mason, United States consul general of Berlin, summing up concisely the practical results of the experiments in high-speed electrical traction made last autumn on the specially prepared military railway line between Berlin and Zossen, noted that as a more or less direct corollary to those tests, the German Society of Mechanical Engineers had offered a series of prizes for the best designs and specifications for a steam locomotive and group of cars, which collectively would form an express train capable of carrying 100 passengers and their baggage with personal comfort and at a speed of 75 miles an hour. The purpose of this competition is to provide a unit of the equipment for the attainment of greatly accelerated speed in railway travel, which can be adapted to the present state railways of Prussia without the tearing up and relaying of tracks with heavier ties and rails that would be required for rapid electrical service.

An interesting forecast of the pending competition has been given by Mr. Arthur Kirchoff, editor of a technical publication in Berlin devoted to engineering and machinery, in which a description is given of certain features of the new locomotives, which are to be tested over the Berlin-Zossen line next year. This is now summarized for American readers by Consul General Mason.

Seek to Avoid Wasting Power.

The specifications require that this express engine and train of the future shall be able to maintain for three consecutive hours a speed of 120 kilometers (74.5 miles) an hour, without stopping for water or fuel, and at a minimum expenditure of motive power. Mr. Kirchoff's outline of how this is to be done will have a definite interest to American engineers.

During the experiments of last autumn an attempt was made to determine as accurately as possible the waste of power entailed by the friction and resistance of air to railway trains at different rates of speed. It was found that while at a speed of 80 kilometers (50 miles) per hour this resistance on a still day was about 32 kilograms (67.2 pounds) per square meter of the surface of the front end of the car, the rate increased very rapidly with the augmentation of speed, so that at a pace of 150 kilometers (93.7 miles) the resistance rose to 75 kilograms (157.5 pounds) per square meter of impinging surface. Every projecting part, every window, door, or other indentation which could form a pocket to catch the wind created by such high velocities, increased the resistance to be overcome, so that in all future experiments the economy of rapid transit will require that the factor of air resistance shall be taken into careful account. This, according to Mr. Kirchoff, is to be done by enveloping the engine and train, from pilot to rear platform, in a shell of sheet steel jointed so as to secure flexibility in passing curves, and so constructed as to inclose the locomotive and cars in a continuous tube, uniform throughout in size and presenting no projecting irregularity which shall catch the resisting air. The front of the engine will be pointed or wedge-shaped, the sheath will inclose as far as possible the running gear of the cars, and even the wheels of both engine and cars will be closed disks of metal instead of, as now, spoked wheels with openings to catch the air.

Shows More Strain Than Steam.

In the recent experiments on the Zossen line the electric motors, conductors and transformers worked to the entire satisfaction of the experts in charge, and the maximum practicable speed and the consequent success of the trials were limited only by the track, which gave way rapidly when a speed exceeding 70 miles an hour was attained. This was indeed the unexpected and most important fact brought out by the trials, viz, that an electric motor, as at present constructed, exerts at high speed a greater strain upon the roadbed than a steam locomotive.

It had previously been claimed, with apparent reason, that, being a rotary motor, without the reciprocating motion of pistons and connecting rods, the electric locomotive would avoid the pounding of the track caused by the unbalanced parts and oscillating strain of the steam locomotive. It was therefore a surprise to find that above a certain speed the strain exerted on the rails by the electric engines was even greater and more fatal. This is now explained by the fact that the center of gravity in the electric engine hangs much lower than in the steam machine, and, what is still more important, the whole weight of the steam boilers, cylinders, pilot, etc., is carried on springs, while in the electric engines used at the trials the motors and all the heavier working parts were hung directly upon the axles, thus adding a crushing weight to the blow delivered by the wheels upon the end of each rail. Attempts have since been made to devise a system of springs to avert or lighten this defect, but, so far as can be learned, with only very limited success.

Springs to Overcome Difficulty.

The new steam locomotive, we are assured, will be specially constructed to meet this difficulty. It will rest on 12 wheels, viz, two pairs of drivers located at the middle of the machine, with a four-wheeled pivot truck in front and rear. Upon these three points of support the boiler and superstructure will be hung upon springs, carefully adjusted to take up as far as practicable the inevitable vibration and oscillation. The engine will be of the compound type, with three cylinders, and in order to secure the most perfect practical balance of working parts two of these will be connected outside, as in an ordinary locomotive, while the third, or high pressure cylinder, will be hung at the center and connected inside, working upon a mid-axle crank, set at 90 degrees from the crank pin of the two outside cylinders, which are set opposite each other.

The boiler will have an interior heating surface of 200 square meters, more than double that of a standard German express locomotive as now constructed. Throughout the entire train, superfluous dead weight will be carefully avoided. Instead of carrying 10 tons of water the new tender will be built to take only half that amount, but will be rigged to take up water en route, as has been successfully done on some American lines. As now planned the new engine will have, theoretically, a coal consumption of 1.12 kilograms (2.352 pounds) per effective horse power hour, as against 1.25 kilograms (2.625 pounds), which is the standard of economic efficiency in the best locomotives of the present German type.

It will be interesting to compare this forecast of theoretical efficiency with the actual results which may be attained when the new engine is tested, which will probably be done during the course of next year.

IRON AND STEEL MAKE BIG GAIN IN PRODUCTION

Allegheny County Leads the State and Consequently the World.

CAPTAIN CLARK'S FIGURES

Chief of Bureau of Industrial Statistics Prepares Annual Report—Capital Invested in Furnaces Three Times as Great as Five Years Ago.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 12.—Allegheny county produced fully 50 per cent of the pig iron and nearly 65 per cent of the entire production of steel in Pennsylvania last year. Practically three-fourths of the year's production of pig iron and over 80 per cent of the production of steel came from counties west of the Alleghany mountains.

Pennsylvania produced 7,364,295 gross tons of pig iron last year, an increase of 992,607 tons over the previous year and an increase of 3,337,945 tons over the production in 1896. The capital invested to bring about this production was $152,075,575, or fully three times the capital invested in the active plants five years ago.

These deductions are made from the advance sheets of the annual report of Capt. James M. Clark, chief of the bureau of industrial statistics. The report shows that the average realized value in 1901 was $14.52, a decrease from 1900 of $2.03, but an increase over 1896 of $3.31 per ton. The number of workmen employed was 14,749, a decrease from 1900 of 1,056, but an increase over 1896 of 3,169.

The aggregate wages paid out was $8,646,479, an increase over 1900 of $146,285, and an increase over 1896 of $4,057,314. The average yearly earnings for all workingmen employed were $586.24, an increase over 1900 of $47.74. The average daily wage was $1.85, an increase over 1900 of 18 cents.

The production of pig iron by counties follows: Allegheny, 3,635,685; Mercer, 622,877; Cambria, 511,533; Lebanon, 382,436; Lawrence, 359,260; Dauphin, 312,400; Berks, 265,065; Lehigh, 230,579; Northampton, 170,947; Montgomery, 170,816; Bedford, 90,534; Lackawanna, 80,241; Fayette, 77,914; Jefferson, 68,942; Armstrong, 47,000; Delaware, 42,093; Centre, 42,0[illegible]; Cameron, 37,723; Westmoreland, 37,[illegible]; Carbon, 32,227; Bucks, 30,025; York, 15,154; Perry, 15,000; Mifflin, 1,954; Huntingdon, 1,953.

The total production of steel in Pennsylvania last year was 7,959,720 gross tons, of which 4,319,144 was bessemer; 3,554,828 was open hearth, and the remainder crucible and other processes. The increase in the production of bessemer over 1900 was 830,575 tons; increase of open hearth 851,890 tons; increase of crucible and other processes 21,248 tons. The increase in the total production over 1900 was 1,702,945 tons and over 1896 4,614,191 tons.

The production of steel by counties follows: Allegheny, 5,140,580; Cambria, 555,775; Dauphin, 426,787; Lackawanna, 324,845; Chester, 308,890; Lawrence, 267,174; Mercer, 217,518; Montgomery, 61,111; Delaware, 60,597; Mifflin, 23,101; Armstrong, 14,193; Venango, 3,969; York, 3,700; Berks, 3,570; Washington, 634; Crawford, 275; Beaver, 176; Erie, 64.

GLASS WORKERS WIN A GREAT VICTORY

Wage Advance of Seven Per Cent for All Chimney Workers Was Granted.

The chimney employes in the American Flint Glass Workers' union are said to have gained yesterday the greatest victory in the history of the organization. With their assistants they number 5,000. A final wage conference was held yesterday afternoon in the Stevenson building, between the officials of the Macbeth-Evans Glass Company, the only producer of machine-made chimneys, and the chimney branch wage committee of the union. It is said to have resulted in an offer to meet a wage advance for the skilled men of the factories of 7 per cent, on condition that the advance be made the same for the hand and the paste-mold chimney workers.

This resulted from differences which have existed among the manufacturers, the paste-mold and the hand factory owners insisting that the present close differential between their wages and the machine factory wages must be maintained. The result was that a horizontal advance of 7 per cent was proposed. This will be submitted to referendum vote of the trade, and the returns are expected to be in within two weeks.

Most of the chimney factories have been idle while the settlement was uncertain. The differences between the manufacturers had indicated that either the hand or the machine factory workers would beecome involved in a strike and just prior to the final machine conference a leading member of the Macbeth-Evans Glass Company declared that it was hardly possible to avoid trouble.

The compromise reached yesterday is expected to put 5,000 skilled workers and others in the chimney factories back to work within two weeks. President Charles E. Voitle of the American Flint Glass Workers' union said yesterday evening:

"I cannot disclose the exact terms of the adjustment till it has been submitted to our people, its going into effect being provisional on the result of the referendum vote. However, you may quote me as saying that there is scarcely a chance of a strike in the chimney factories."

MUST GET UNION PAY.

Stonecutters Want Three Men to Join Organization.

The Journeymen Stonecutters association last night voted to call all members off the big new Farmers Deposit National bank unless some of the men on the work either join their union and secure the scale wage or are discharged.

The association held a special meeting last night at the corner of First and James streets, Allegheny, in relation to the matter. It is said that there are three men working on the building as stonecutters who were brought here from Vermont quarries and that their wage is much below the union rate of $4 for the eight hour day.

MACHINE WILL DEAL WITH THE UNION PARTY

City Chairman Brown Says "Our Fellows" Want in Many Columns.

PLAN TO HELP PATTISON

Organization Would Throw Votes to Him in Return for Democratic Assistance for Its County Ticket. Pennypacker Letter Expected on Friday.

"It will be good politics for our fellows to get in as many columns on the ballot as they can."

This significant statement was made by Republican City Chairman J. O. Brown in answer to a question as to whether the Union party would nominate Robert E. Pattison and indorse the machine county candidates. By this utterance the recorder-chairman wipes out the contention of the old organization against Judge S. W. Pennypacker, the Republican nominee for governor, accepting the indorsement of the Citizens party, if it is good politics for the machine candidate to hunt outside the party for votes, it is difficult to see why the recorder and his friends have been arguing against Judge Pennypacker doing the same thing.

It is by this combination with the Democrats that the old organization hopes to offset the effect of the Citizens indorsement of Judge Pennypacker. While it has been generally rumored that the machine was hopeful of making such an alliance with the Democrats, it is surprising that Chairman Brown is so frank as to admit that the deal is on.

The situation locally has discouraged him considerably, and he now sees that it is necessary to get into a cut-throat game this fall. He has admitted to his intimates that there is no longer hope of preventing Pennypacker's acceptance of the Citizens indorsement.

Friends in Union Party.

The machine has friends in the Union party. Harry S. Paul is still the local chairman and William McConway, who was credited with financing the body last fall, is said to be willing to loosen his purse strings again. Those familiar with local political conditions know of the close relations existing between William McConway, William Flinn and J. O. Brown.

McConway has been one of Recorder Brown's chief advisers. The machine now looks to him for help in this the hardest struggle it has ever had. When McConway turned up in the Union party last fall it was rumored that he had been urged by Senator Flinn to ally himself with this organization so that he could be of assistance in just such an emergency as has now arisen. He will be expected to use his influence to have the Unionists indorse the organization's congressional, legislative, judicial and county tickets.

There is some reason for believing that McConway has already assured his machine friends that this will be done. There is the same reason for believing that certain Democrats have also entered into the scheme.

Will Nominate Pattison.

The Union party will hold its state convention in Philadelphia on September 3. It is generally conceded that this band of alleged independent Republicans will nominate the present Democratic state candidate. Such action would be pleasing to Col. J. M. Guffey and the Democratic nominees. For their assistance to Pattison and his colleagues Col. Guffey will no doubt be expected to help out the county ticket of the Union party. He is supposed to be favorable to the fusion ticket in this county, having been a member of the committee that selected the candidates.

If Col. Guffey and his Democratic friends remain loyal to the fusion county ticket it is difficult to see where the old organization would profit by its deal with the Unionists. The plan, of course, would be to throw the strength of the machine to Pattison and in return receive a similar assistance from the Democratic and the handful of men allied with the Union party because of various grievances.

The total Democratic vote in the county at high water mark never runs much over 30,000. It would be possible to divert but a very small percentage of this from the fusion ticket, for by the election of that ticket the Democrats would come into possession of a number of fat court house jobs and Allegheny county Democrats are more anxious to get into the plum field than to have a Democratic governor.

Claim to Be Displeased.

Some of the Union party men in the county set up the claim that they are displeased with Thomas S. Bigelow's course last fall, and for that reason are opposed to helping the Citizens ticket. They say that had Mr. Bigelow and his friends turned in against the Republican state candidates the Union party would now join hands with the Citizens. So far as Pennsypacker is concerned the Unionists say that they cannot favor his candidacy because of his friendship for Quay.

Charles S. Crawford yesterday returned from Philadelphia, where he conferred with Judge Pennypacker about the acceptance of the Citizens party endorsement. He had little to say about the result of his mission, but admitted that Pennypacker's name would appear at the head of the Citizens ticket. Mr. Crawford said that nothing would be made public until after replies had been received from W. M. Brown and I. B. Brown, Republican nominees for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. They have been notified by letter of their endorsement.

Mr. Crawford and T. S. Bigelow had a conference yesterday. Afterward the latter said that there was no doubt about the action of the judge. He also intimated that the much talked of letter would reach Pittsburgh about Friday.

ANARCHIST WEAKENS.

ROME, Aug. 12.—The Italian steamer Citta Di Milano from New York, which arrived at Genoa August 9, reports that an anarchist named Saganza, from New York, committed suicide by jumping overboard while the vessel was off Gibraltar.

It is alleged that Saganza had been commissioned to murder an European royal personage and was on his way to Europe for this purpose, but weakened at the last moment and killed himself.

Two of his companions disappeared upon the arrival of the Citta Di Milano at Genoa.

TO GET VALUABLE BIRD COLLECTION

CARNEGIE MUSEUM IS AFTER RARE EUROPEAN SPECIMENS.

Were Gathered by Baron Snauckaert von Schanburg and Will Cost Institute a Pretty Penny—Dr. Holland Has Returned.

Dr. William J. Holland has opened negotiations for the purchase of a famous collection of birds of Europe for the Carnegie museum. The contract for the collection will be signed in a few days and the consignment will be shipped at once. This collection is said to be one of the most valuable that can be purchased and will cost the institute a pretty sum.

The collection contains over 1,000 specimens, including over 200 species of the birds of Holland. It was made by Baron Snauckaert von Schanburg, an eminent Dutch ornithologist. It was mounted by H. H. ter Meer, Jr., a noted taxidermist.

The offer of this collection was made to the Carnegie museum some time ago, but no action could be taken on it until Dr. Holland arrived home from Magnolia, Mass., where he has been spending his vacation. Dr. Holland came home yesterday morning and at once took up the matter and laid it before the board of trustees, with the result that he was instructed to open negotiations for the purchase.

Dr. Holland has a special letter from Mr. ter Meer, who is connected with the Royal museum of Leyden, Holland, in which he says that the collection is one of the finest in the world. It not only has great intrinsic value, but, on account of several of the specimens having become recently extinct, is all the more valuable.

When Dr. Holland returned to his desk yesterday morning he found several bushels of letters awaiting his arrival. Among these he expected to find several reports from his four exploration parties in the west, but none was there. He hopes, however, to get reports the latter part of the week.

Prof. J. B. Hatcher, paleontologist of the Carnegie museum, who has charge of the parties in the field of exploration, left for the west the latter part of July. It is his intention to spend the whole of the present month in visiting the parties and making reports on their progress.

About September 1 Prof. Hatcher, with a corps of men, will go to the Carnegie museum quarries in South Dakota, where he will superintend the lifting and shipping of the bones of the titanotherium discovered by Prof. Hatcher last year. The bones will not be shipped until winter and it will require almost a year to put the skeleton together again. The Holland bird collection will not arrive in Pittsburgh until probably the first of next year, when it will be given in charge of Taxidermist Frederic Webster, remounted and placed on exhibition in the museum halls.

"THE Y. M. C. A. OF THE MAN THAT IS DOWN"

Volunteers of America Open Their New Mission at No. 343 Second Avenue.

"The Y. M. C. A. of the man that's down" is the ideal expressed by Col. C. Herron, local commandant of the Volunteers of America, in speaking of the mission of his organization opened last evening at No. 343 Second avenue. An audience of fully 200 Volunteers and people from the street gathered at the services on the second floor of the building last evening.

Among the members of the organization there was general congratulation for obtaining downtown headquarters. "It seems that everything came our way from the start," Col. Heron said, in his address announcing the opening. "Business men, members of the Volunteers and all others approached took a lively interest in the plan to establish headquarters in a locality so ready for work of the sort."

It is the plan of the Volunteers to have in addition to the second floor mission, a reading and writing room on the second floor, back, with lodgings on the third and fourth floors. The charges are to be as nearly nothing as possible and still keep the accommodations from being a charity. These portions of the headquarters are now being put into shape and will be opened as soon as possible.

Those taking part in last evening's services were Col. and Mrs. Herron and Maj. McFadden, assistant to Col. Herron; Maj. Etta B. Ayres and Capt. Mabel Pearsall, both of McKeesport, accompanied by 40 privates; Capt. Rose Hoenof and Lieut. Jennie Morris, of the East End, with 20 privates, and Lieut. John Nateel and the privates of Allegheny.

The Kind That Brings Health to Old Age.

When people have ruined health by the use of improper food, and then change to the right kind and get well, they feel like shouting it from the housetops.

"I wish I had power to tell every fellow being who is suffering the story of my deliverance and persuade them to avail themselves of the same means that I used," says a lady of North Cuba, N. Y. "I am 61 years old. From earliest girlhood it has seemed imperative during the waking hours for me to be constantly at work. In the getting up of my meals, the paramount consideration was pleasing the appetite rather than the preservation of health.

"As was to be expected, years of toil and careless living resulted in the gradual 'break down' of my whole system; I did not realize it until three years ago, when physically, that life was a burden. I had frequent attacks of severe headache, accompanied by nausea terrible to endure, sluggish liver and kidneys, circulation weak, appetite gone, digestion seriously impaired; I was on the verge of total nervous prostration, and my condition seemed hopeless.

"A friend, who had suffered from stomach trouble and indigestion, told me of the great benefit she had received from Grape-Nuts, and I decided to try the food, and I am thankful for the impulse that led me to do it. I began by using three teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts softened in milk three times a day. In a week I was conscious of renewed vigor. My aches and pains lessened; the nervousness disappeared; the fog that had enveloped my brain and obscured my memory was lifted, and in place of restless wakefulness, came refreshing sleep.

"I continued to improve until at the end of three weeks I could add to my breakfast and supper a baked apple or a dish of some kind of fruit, and ate more hearty food at the mid-day meal. I have had no relapse; my recovery of health is of constant surprise and unbounded thankfulness to me and mine. I have not found the fountain of eternal youth, but I have found something that so nourishes and strengthens my vitality that I can endure as great an amount of fatiguing labor, and accomplish as much as any woman of my age can reasonably expect." OPPOSED ORDINANCE.

Allegheny Councilman Wants Cost of Removing Private Switch Put on Owners.

At the regular monthly meeting of the committee on public works of Allegheny councils, held last night, an ordinance was presented for the repeal of an act granting the Pennsylvania Casting and Machine Company the right to lay and maintain a railroad switch from their works across Preble avenue. The company asserts that it has no use for the switch and should be exonerated from the $25 license fee.

Councilman Hendricks opposed the resolution and claimed that the switch license should be looked into, and, if the ordinance should pass, the company should pay all expenses connected with lifting the switch and repairing the street. The ordinance for raising houses in Stayton street was recommended negatively and the following ordinances were recommended affirmatively: Grading, paving and curbing McIntyre avenue and an unnamed 40-foot street in the First ward from Martin street to Craig street, along the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, and a lateral sewer on Buena Vista street.

TWELVE PAGES.

Stating a Principle.

City Chairman J. O. Brown leaves nothing of the machine organ contention that Judge Pennypacker should not accept the Citizens party indorsement. In fact, he supports the identical idea advanced by The Gazette that it is to Judge Pennypacker's interest to have his name in as many columns as possible. Mr. Brown does not say this in reference to Judge Pennypacker, but in connection with the "organization" county ticket, discussing the probability that the Union party will indorse Pattison, Guthrie and Nolan in the state and the "organization" candidates in Allegheny county. "It is to our interest to get in as many columns as we can," is what the city chairman says, in effect.

City Chairman Brown is right. He is a politician and man of affairs who prefers practical advantage to idle sentiment. No doubt he expects the Union party indorsement for his ticket, and in the light he throws upon the subject it would be highly foolish for the Republican state candidates to throw away any advantage that may accrue from being on the Citizens ticket in this county.

Wu's Successor Reveals Himself.

The more that is seen and heard of Sir Liang Chen Tung, who is to succeed Wu Ting Fang as Chinese minister at Washington, the better reason is there to be satisfied with him and the more certain that the withdrawal of Wu is not a sign of reaction. Sir Liang appears to be striving toward the light in behalf of China, and, speaking as he does while in the entourage of a Chinese imperial prince, and on his way to China before assuming the duties of his new office, there is a guarantee that the feet of the Celestial empire are at last on the highway of enlightened progress, there to stay. From the manner of man Sir Liang reveals himself to be his appointment justifies a belief that the rumors are well founded telling that Wu, because of his knowledge of occidental civilization, is called home to teach and guide the government of his nation and prepare it to play a different role in the politics of the world.

We rather like it, too, that Sir Liang, while admitting, "The hope of my country is in the education of her young men in this great country," shows love for the land of his birth and pride in its institutions, in the declaration: "The poor boy in China has the same chance in China that he has here if he studies. Poverty is no bar to progress. If the poor boy studies and is worthy he may become a mandarin. He may become a prime minister, just as you say here every boy may be president."

But though China may resemble America in democratic equality of opportunity, the likeness ends there, as the progressive Chinaman himself recognizes Chinese backwardness in pointing to American education as the hope of his country, and proves his good faith by further saying: "As yet my children have had only the Chinese education, but I mean that they, every one of them, shall go to New England and get a good American education."

Sir Liang complains that his countrymen are unappreciated because not known. He hopes to make them better known, he says, by establishing English schools for the Chinese resident in this country. "It is the great difficulty," he said, "that foreigners experience in acquiring even a slight knowledge of our language that makes us so greatly misunderstood. I have had the pleasure of meeting only two Europeans during the last three months who were able to converse with me in my native tongue. Is it any wonder that we are so much of a puzzle to foreigners, who treat us accordingly?"

But foreigners have had to force their way in China against more than the difficulties of language, all to the Celestial being "foreign devils." With a new disposition on the part of the Chinese government, brought about by its necessities, to reveal the good qualities of the Chinese race where the repulsive side has been shown, there will be a better opportunity to know and understand. Minister Wu has done much to promote progress toward such knowledge and understanding, and we are glad to see that Sir Liang will continue this work. The United States, which opened Japan to western influences, has had no small share in opening China and in protecting it against the rapacity of foreign nations. Educated Chinamen realize this, even while they chafe at the barrier set up against Chinese immigration, and they also concede, as Sir Liang puts it, that "America has a perfect right to impose laws against other countries for the protection of her people and industries." They claim, as he does, the same right for China, but the Chinese wall of absolute separation is down and China is going to school.

We will be glad to welcome the children of the Chinese minister to drink at an American fountain of knowledge, and will welcome him as China's pledge that she has emerged from the dark.

Justice Tempered by Mercy.

Probably no man was ever more vilified for doing his duty than Judge Jackson of West Virginia, who committed half a dozen or so of miners for contempt of court because they disobeyed an injunction. Social agitators throughout the country, beginning with W. J. Bryan and running to the lowest on the list, denounced the judge, not merely as an exponent of "government by injunction," but as a heartless wretch. They even went so far as to falsely accuse Judge Jackson of having enjoined all persons from giving food to starving miners or members of their families.

This same Judge Jackson yesterday made an order releasing the imprisoned miners. His order was issued upon petition of the men, accompanied by a promise to obey the injunction in future and a statement that before their arrest they were not aware they were violating the law. The release makes them subject to rearrest if they do not keep their promise. This finally disposes of the charge of heartlessness against Judge Jackson. His former action needed no vindication. It was sustained by Judge Goff, as it would be by the higher courts. But this order of release, following a petition in which the imprisoned men fully concede the justice of the commitment, while confessing their own ignorance of the law, is a crushing refutation of the vicious misrepresentations of Bryan and his school of demagogy.

In the anthracite field there have been no less effective illustrations of the falsity of created sentiment. The latest is the feeding of the hungry people in the mess tents of the troops who are always pictured by the Bryanesque orators as eager to slaughter the innocents. Another is the letter of a woman asking protection because her sick child was nearly killed by stones thrown through the windows, all because her husband had gone to work to meet the expense of food and doctor bills and to pay the balance of debt incurred in burying another child last spring.

Public sympathy is naturally with poor men striking for living wages, or against real or imaginary injustice. That sympathy is proper as long as the strikers obey the laws. But it is despicable for men who know better to denounce enforcement of the law by officers who perform their sworn duty, merely to obtain a temporary popularity among those too ignorant or too much swayed by prejudice to understand the equities of the case. Such men are dangerous enemies to society.

The Hospital Row.

In respect to the new Municipal hospital the issue is squarely joined between Controller Larkin and Director Leslie. The latter has advertised for proposals for the building upon the non-competitive plans. The director has the wrong end of it, too, for even if his procedure be held to be legal it is bad policy. The original fund voted for a contagious diseases hospital was $360,000. The greater part of that sum has been dissipated for other purposes. Even now it is not proposed to use all of the remainder, but only $80,000 to build a hospital that the director avers will not meet the city's requirements. Under such circumstances it was very unwise to refuse to open the door to competitive plans.

Of course, if the work is stopped by the controller, for however good cause, he will be charged with delaying necessary public work. Such a charge will have little standing. The work has already been delayed outrageously while the funds have been frittered away for other purposes. It is the controller's business to protect the treasury and the taxpayers.

Changes on the Supreme Bench.

Changes in the supreme court of the United States are infrequent enough to make the resignation of a member of that august body, and the appointment of his successor, matters of deep interest to the people of the United States. Horace Gray, who leaves the bench by reason of ill health, was appointed in 1881 by President Arthur. At that time he was 53 years of age and chief justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts. His experience of 17 years in the highest tribunal of his native state amply fitted him for a place on the federal supreme bench and his subsequent career proved the wisdom of President Arthur's choice. Justice Gray is a thorough lawyer and an able jurist. His judicial utterances and opinions are expressed with great strength and firmness and his conclusions supported with well-sustained authority. Some of his notable opinions relate to the conflict of laws, the interpretation of wills, the nature of infamous crimes, the powers of courts-martial, the boundary between national and state authority in states, the distinction between capital and labor, and the original jurisdiction of the supreme court over suits by a state.

For Justice Gray's successor President Roosevelt went to the same state of Massachusetts and selected Oliver Wendell Holmes, a jurist who trod in the steps of Justice Gray, for, like him, he was associate justice and then chief justice of the Massachusetts supreme court. Justice Holmes is the son of the beloved "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," and has made for himself a name in law as his father made one in literature. During the civil war he served with honor in a Massachusetts regiment. He was wounded three times. After the war was over he began the practice of law in Boston and soon distinguished himself enough to attract the attention of the Harvard authorities, who made him professor of law. His promotion to the Massachusetts bench followed, on which in time he became chief justice. In his own state Chief Justice Holmes is regarded as a fine jurist and thoroughly qualified to maintain the reputation of the old Bay State in the highest court of the nation.

Getting the World's Markets.

The prevalent idea that the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland buys more from Uncle Sam than all the rest of the world beside, will have to be revised. This was the case until five years ago, but in 1898 the rest of the world overtook the British Isles and has kept ahead ever since.

Taking the annual excess of exports over imports, in favor of the United States, in 1895 those to the United Kingdom were valued at $228,042,215 and to the rest of the world at $75,568,000. This was a large preponderance in favor of John Bull. The difference was reduced in the following year, when the figures respectively were $235,777,905 and $102,882,264. The year 1897 saw an increase to $315,322,578 in the British column, but the increase in the world's column was far larger, being to $286,263,144. In 1898 came the great change, for while the British column showed an expansion to $431,995,420, the world column for the first time was greater than the British, reaching the wonderful total of $615,432,676. Even that figure was exceeded in 1901, when the world column showed $664,592,825. Other years since 1898 have hovered close to the $500,000,000 point, having been over it twice and under it once, but in no year has England regained the position it lost in 1898. England still buys more American products than any other country, and it buys more now than it did prior to 1898, but it no longer purchases more than the rest of the world combined.

These statistics are not only eloquent of the expanding commerce of the United States, but they speak also of expanding markets. We do not depend now on a single customer to buy our wares. They are sent all over the globe and the markets for them are continually widening.

Fuel for Warships.

Experiments with petroleum fuel for naval vessels are said to have been attended with a measure of success that encourages American naval officers to believe that in time coal will be displaced for liquid fuel, with many attendant good results. These experiments, however, in the navy of the United States are new only so far as our own navy is concerned. Germany has, for example, experimented before us with petroleum and is even experimenting with alcohol. Already, it is said, engines of 3,000 horse power constructed for use with potato spirit are actually on trial, and if the hopes of the kaiser, who is industriously furthering all these experiments, are realized, "the German battleship of the future will be without funnels, so as to secure an all-round fire from the big guns; without bunkers, as there will be no coal, and with the whole of the fuel for propelling purposes contained in submarine tanks." Many advantages are urged for liquid fuel for power, smokelessness being one and a clear deck another, with an elimination of dirt and the terrors of the stoke hole, and convenience in handling. With smokeless funnels or no funnels, and with smokeless powder, and the many other improvements that have taken place and are in the mind of man, the warship of today is a different thing from the warship of the early days of the present generation and promises to be vastly different.

Young women at Pitman Grove, N. J., who have formed a society and resolved not to change their gowns more than three times a day are much criticised by other young women who possess unlimited wardrobes and who spitefully declare that most of the three-dresses-a-day clubbers have only two gowns in their possession.

That evening cotemporary that spends so much of its time criticising the errors of others yesterday announced in bold type that the Lexington, Mo., crime was another lynching in "Kentucky." To err is human.

Mexican dollars fell to 40¾ cents in American money last Saturday. This is the lowest price on record, and should call forth some sort of an explanation from that distinguished silver apologist, Col. Bryan.

GOTHAM MISSES CHINESE PRINCE

Chen Is Voted Good Fellow, Though Li Hung Chang Is Not Forgotten.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.

Prince Tsai Chen, cousin of the emperor of China, has left us. That is, he has left New York. He went away this evening, after spending as busy a day in the metropolis as any man could, but which seems to be quite natural in a Chinaman. Gotham has not forgotten Li Hung Chang and his insatiable curiosity. Prince Chen went today to Chinatown to get some Chinese money changed into that of the United States, and this afternoon was at City hall, where President Fornes, acting mayor of New York, received him and his retinue and showed him briefly how the municipal government was conducted in the absence of the chief executive. Of course his highness wanted to visit the top of a skyscraper, which desire was easily gratified. This evening, before the departure of the party for Niagara Falls, there was a drive through Mott, Pell and Doyers street, the Chinatown of New York, where the denizens had gone to great expense and trouble in the way of flags and fireworks. The impassive faces of the prince and his companions told nothing of their opinion of the display, but it is presumed that they enjoyed it. As for the residents of the quarter, they had not had such a time since Wu Ting Fang went down there, about a year ago. Prince Chen has made an exceedingly good impression here, as much on account of his appreciation of American institutions as for any other reason. He reads the American papers every day through his secretary, Wang Kai Kah, who reads and speaks English with fluency. The secretary swallows a mouthful of the paper and then turns it into Chinese with wonderful ease and set off with the flowery embellishments peculiar to the Chinese tongue. The prince commented today on the news with a great deal of particularity. They said he was much struck with the patriotism of the audience at a theater he attended last night, when the people all rose to their feet as the national hymn was played. New York is sorry that the prince has gone, for he is a "good fellow"—which is as high praise as Americans can bestow upon any man.

Pittsburghers Make a Call.

John Marron and Frank C. McGirr, of the well-known law firm of Marron & McGirr, were Pittsburgh callers at The Gazette New York News Bureau this afternoon.

Scene Very Gilbertian.

Every evening about 7 o'clock may be seen several queer little figures scuttling across Broadway at Twenty-third street who look as if they might have escaped from the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Mikado." They are performers in the Madison Square roof garden entertainment, "Japan By Night," which has become one of the sights of the summer here. The Japs who take part in the show go about in their native costume, and they have become such familiar objects that little attention is paid to them. At the same time their appearance on the public thoroughfares is a good advertisement for the roof garden.

Shiners Must Not Drum Trade.

One of the questions that agitates the minds of commuters who are compelled to use the ferryboats is whether there should or should not be bootblacks on board. The Erie Railroad Company banished them about a month ago. There had been complaints that the boys annoyed passengers by their constant cries of "Shine," and that they were continually quarrelling among themselves. The boys came back today, it being said that some of the passengers liked to have their shoes shined while crossing the river. Trying to please everybody, the company decided to reinstate the boys. But fastened to the top of each shiner's cap is a piece of white paper on which is written in large letters: "Notice: Boys must not solicit shines." As the boy bends down to shine a pair of shoes the wearer looks straight down at the top of his cap and reads the notice perforce. Like the loquacious barber who tries to force a shampoo on you when you only want a shave, the chief fault of the ferryboat shiner is his disposition to talk at his customers.

Gotham Fears $10 Anthracite.

A shudder ran through Harlem and Brooklyn today when it was announced that the price of anthracite coal had gone up to $9 a ton. It was only the other day that the price jumped from $7 to $8. The prediction has been made that $10 a ton will be the price this winter, and there seems to be little doubt that this figure will be reached. With no prospect of the strike in Pennsylvania coming to an end there is a feeling that coal may be any old price when the cold weather sets in.

Triumvirs' Day Is Passing.

From all that can be seen the Tammany committee of three will soon pass out of existence. There was a meeting called for today, but the triumvirs did not gather and there was an adjournment on account of "no quorum." No one takes the committee seriously, and it is the general impression that it will die of anemia in due course.

Promise to Fight Government.

A lawyer in New York representing several corporations which hold Friars' lands in the Philippines said today that the situation will remain unchanged until a new apostolic delegate to Manila is appointed by the vatican. The lawyer added: "The United States government will probably make an offer for the land of the Friars. If that offer is reasonable it will be accepted; if not it will be rejected, and then the government will take the alternative action of condemning the land on the theory of the right of eminent domain. Such action, however, would be utterly inconsistent with the spirit of our institutions and would be contested bitterly up to the supreme court of the United States at Washington."

Brooklyn's Most Needed Improvement.

Brooklyn wants a new jail. This is sad news from such a staid community as that at "the wrong end of the Brooklyn bridge." What can Brooklyn want with a jail? That is the question generally asked, for it is supposed that the pomps and vanities of this wicked world, with the crime that follows natural in their wake, have no place over there. The explanation is that old Raymond Street jail for women is no longer fit for its purpose, and there should be a new one in place of it. This old building was condemned 20 years ago. Henry Ward Beecher said more than once that it had outlived its usefulness, even in his time.

Coroner Fears a Riot.

Murders among the Italians in the close quarters of Elizabeth street and adjacent thoroughfares, where the newly-arrived immigrants herd together in unnumbered thousands, are not an unusual incident. Policemen down that way show little regard for the feelings of the people, and when there is a row the participants are lugged to the police stations sans ceremonie. This spirit was illustrated today in the coroner's office, where there was an inquest in the case of an Italian killed by a compatriot 80 years old lately. At the very beginning of the proceedings every Italian in court except those actually concerned in the case was thrown out of the room and kept out. The coroner was afraid of a riot, he said.

Gompers Delivered of a Pun.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Ralph M. Easley, chief secretary of the National Civic Federation, are both in New York. Easley has an office here, and Gompers came over a day or two ago to see Easley. He had considerable trouble to find Easley, and it was only after some hours of chasing today that Gompers found his man. The two are great friends, which emboldened Gompers to deliver himself of a pun awful enough for Punch. He said: "Well, Easley, now that you are found, I want to tell you that you are not easily found." And while Easley smiled a sickly smile, Gompers haw-hawed in the hearty manner characteristic of him.

Cassatt an Autocrat and Knows It.

President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad has this told about him: He summoned an official of the Long Island railroad to his private office in this city a day or two ago and ordered some changes in the methods of conducting that property. The official was one of the old regime, before the Pennsylvania railroad obtained control of the Long Island road. He told the president that things had been done in that way for many years. This did not impress Mr. Cassatt, who merely remarked, coldly, that he wanted his way about it. "I fear you are an autocrat, Mr. Cassatt," remarked the official. Mr. Cassatt smiled as he answered: "It is no news to the president of the Pennsylvania railroad to tell him that he is an autocrat."

No Hold-Up for Santos-Dumont.

There is a significant story about the methods of some of the city officials here in which Santos-Dumont is concerned. The other day a man who said he represented the fire marshal's office waited on the aeronaut at his workshop at Brighton Beach and demanded to see what provisions had been made for the safety of persons working there. Santos-Dumont replied that he had not done anything, because anybody could escape from the low shed without trouble. The inspector told him he must get hand-grenades, fire-buckets and other paraphernalia, according to law, and, giving Santos-Dumont his card, departed, threatening to have him arrested if he did not obey the law. Soon afterward another man appeared at the factory representing a firm which would supply the grenades, buckets and all the other things mentioned by the fire spector, at a price. Santos mildly asked the man for his card. Having received it he held it up with the inspector's card by the side of it, and, changing his tone, told the fire apparatus man sharply that if he heard any more about the fire extinguishing matter he would take the two cards to his lawyer and bring action against him and the inspector for conspiracy. The aeronaut has not heard anything more about the matter, and he is still doing his work without fire buckets and hand grenades.

Bridge Carries More Weight.

In his report for the first six months of 1902, Bridge Commissioner Linderthal, referring to the Brooklyn bridge, says that delays have been very few in the traffic, only those caused by snowstorms in February and March. He does not estimate the number of people carried across the bridge in one day, but quotes figures of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company for a day of 24 hours, in which 295,068 passengers were carried on the trolley cars. This is an increase, he says, of 11,994 passengers over the previous count made last fall.

Mystery of Submarine Boat.

A vessel about 35 feet long that is said to be a "Warner" submarine boat, was on the deck of the Hamburg-American steamship Pennsylvania when she sailed from Hoboken today for Hamburg. The small boat was in charge of Samuel Morton, an electrician, who said that the boat had had trials off Penfield Reef, but refused to give any further information about her. Outwardly the boat looked like one of the Holland submarine boats.

His Policy Is to Leave America.

"Al" Adams, the alleged "policy king" who was recently indicted and tried for maintaining policy shops, the jury failing to agree, sailed for Hamburg today on the Hamburg-American liner Pennsylvania.

New Plan to Make Music.

John S. Duss announces that he will give each of his patrons a bottle of "Economy wine" as a souvenir of the one hundredth New York concert at the St. Nicholas Garden on September 1. This is a herculean undertaking, and before he has served everybody on that night our friend Duss will probably be brought down to the vintage of Father Rapp's infancy.

A President Hadley Story.

From the New York Times.

As an instance of President Hadley's aptness in meeting every situation or replying to every pertinent or impertinent question, the following story is told:

At a reception given for him by an old friend some 500 miles from New Haven, one individual with a better memory than tact asked him what he thought of the recent baseball game. As Yale had met with a disastrous defeat, the subject might be called unpleasant. Without hesitation President Hadley said:

"There was a boy living in a village whose uncle died. The next day a man driving along the road was surprised to find the boy working in a field. Thinking this did not show proper respect to the dead uncle, he called the lad to him and said: 'Johnny, didn't you know your uncle was dead?'

"Johnny slowly approached and drawled out:

"'Yes, I know it—I have cried.'"

An Ancient Rose Bush.

From the Boston Transcript.

In the town of Hildersheim, in Germany, is a rose bush said to be 1,000 years old, and sprouts from its branches have realized fabulous sums. Some years ago a rich Englishman offered $50,000 for the entire tree, but the sum was indignantly refused. This wonderful plant clings amid thickly grown moss against the side of the famous old Church of St. Michael. It is claimed that it has blossomed perennially since the days of King Alfred, and this statement has never been disputed, for its record has been as carefully kept as the pedigree of the bluest blooded family in the kingdom. It is supposed to have been discovered through the medium of King Louis of Hildersheim as far back as 1022.

AS A CONQUEROR WILL WILLIAM GO

German Emperor Asks No Courtesies from His Polish Subjects.

By the MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Emperor William's forthcoming visit to the Polish provinces of his dominions for the purpose of attending the military maneuvers there will be characterized by features which will invest it with the appearance of the entry of a victorious general into a conquered country. For he has curtly declined any official welcome on the part of the municipal authorities, who will, therefore, be conspicuous by their absence. His reception will be exclusively military, and he will ride at the head of his troops into the city of Posen, which is the capital of the province, and where the police have received peremptory orders not to allow any window to remain open or any balcony to be occupied along the route which he traverses.

The adoption of these extraordinary precautions does not suggest much mutual confidence between the sovereign and his lieges, and smacks of Russian terrorism, or of Japan in its unregenerate days, when it meant death for anyone to gaze at the mikado from above, that is to say, from either window or balcony.

Another feature of William's visit to Prussian Poland is that none of the local magnates and territorial nobility will be at their chateaux to do the honors to the royal personages, the generals and the officers quartered beneath their roof during the great military maneuvers. As a general rule the presence of military guests thus quartered upon one by the law of the land during the annual maneuvers, constitutes a pretext for lavish hospitality, patriotic festivities and much entertainment. But now, as in France in 1870, at the time of the German invasion, there will be none but servants to welcome the unwelcome guests and attend to their wants, and only menials will be left to do the honors. This authorities at Berlin, and likewise the members of the imperial family, are very uneasy about this Polish trip of the kaiser, and have brought every kind of pressure to bear to induce him to abandon it, fearing some attempt to assassinate him. Arguments have only had the effect of rendering William more determined to show himself in his Polish provinces.

De Mores Not Political Victim.

In view of the termination of the trial of the Arab assassins of the Marquis de Mores at Suss, it may be well to draw attention to the fact that the proceedings in court have demonstrated the complete falsity of the charges openly made at Paris that the murder of De Mores was instigated by political adversaries among his fellow countrymen. De Mores had rendered himself conspicuous by his almost fanatic hostility towards the Jews and his opposition to the government of the day. He posed as champion of the church, and what is known in France as the Nationalist cause, with so much success that today wide belief is accorded to the stories circulated by his political associates to the effect that he was purposely put out of the way through the agency of some Arab tribesmen who merely acted in obedience to orders.

As a proof of this ridiculous assertion it is pointed out that government officials, especially in Tunis and in Algeria, placed every obstacle in the way of the execution of his hare-brained project of making his way from Tunis across the Sahara in order to join the now defunct Mahdi at Omdurman on the Nile and thus strike a blow at British interests there.

It is perfectly true the French authorities did endeavor to prevent him from embarking on such a foolhardy expedition, for which he was completely unfitted, having no knowledge whatsoever of Arab character or of desert life. Indeed the French military authorities in Northern Africa did everything in that line short of locking him up. It is a pity they did not resort to this extreme measure. In that event De Mores would be probably still alive and his American wife would not be mourning his death as a widow.

Acted as the British Did.

The French authorities in North Africa merely acted in the same way the English were wont to do in Egypt, or rather in the Soudan, before the overthrow of the mahdi. The Anglo-Egyptian forces on the upper Nile had a certain line of outposts and beyond that line no white man was allowed to go, not even at his own risk. If he attempted to do so he was promptly arrested and sent down the river to Cairo under strong escort. Lord Kitchener and his subordinates well knew that if any white man straying beyond the British lines were to fall into the hands of the mahdi and be killed it would be they who would be charged with responsibility for his death.

They had before them the case of that former leader of the Paris Commune Olivier Pain, who endeavored away back in 1884 to reach the mahdi from Cairo for the purpose of helping him against the English. Twice Pain was turned back by the Anglo-Egyptian outposts, sent back to Cairo under arrest and warned that his project entailed certain death. The third time he managed to elude the English frontier guard and reaching one of the Dervish strongholds was promptly put to death there by the mahdist leader as a spy, his story of his wish to help the insurgents against the English being discredited and ridiculed. Yet for years afterwards even the most respectable organs of the French press were accustomed to freely assert that Olivier Pain met with his death through the agency of the English, who were alarmed as to what he might be able to do against them at Omdurman.

There is a certain timeliness in drawing attention to this just now. The fact that people's lives are not entirely their own to risk has been conclusively shown in the case of Miss Stone, the American missionary for whose release from the captivity in which she was held by Macedonian brigands so large a ransom had to be paid. She had been warned by the Turkish authorities not to venture into certain districts known to be infested at the time by Macedonian bandits. Yet she persisted in going her way. If the Turkish government had arrested her for disregarding not only its warnings but also its commands, it would have been perfectly justified according to French practice in Northern Africa and English custom in Egypt, and would have spared itself all sorts of obloquy and trouble, as well as of charges of mis-government and of financial responsibility for the ransom paid for her release.

Military Despotism Extraordinary.

An extraordinary case of military despotism which may lead to international complications has just taken place in Bavaria. Nearly 20 years ago Adolf Weber emigrated from Augsburg to the United States a few months before attaining the age at which he would have become liable for military service. After spending some time in New York and Chicago, engaged in journalism, he drifted down to Mexico where he quickly acquired both wealth and position, so much so that last winter he was appointed by the Mexican government to be its consul at Munich. It seems some of his relatives or former friends notified the military authorities of his having left the country as a lad without fulfilling his military duty, and in consequence thereof he was arrested in the Mexican consulate at Munich as a deserter from the Bavarian army and despite his protests and plea for clemency was sentenced to seven months' imprisonment at hard labor, to be followed by the several years' service in the German army, which he would have been obliged to perform had he not left the country as a youth.

Consuls, it must be remembered, do not enjoy the same ex-territorial immunities as diplomats and are liable to arrest wherever they are guilty of any infraction of the laws of the land in which they are stationed.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. Lucy M. Carnahan.

Mrs. Lucy M. Carnahan, wife of James Carnahan, a well-known oil man, is dead at the Steuben sanitarium, at Hornellsville, N. Y., where she went several weeks ago for treatment. It was supposed that she was recovering her health until a telegram announcing her death was received in this city yesterday morning. Mrs. Carnahan was about 30 years old and is survived by her husband, mother and two sisters, the latter residing in the west.

The fact that Mr. Carnahan is thousands of miles away from home and will not learn of his sad bereavement for at least we months, makes the death all the more distressing. Up until last March Mr. Carnahan and his wife resided in Wilkinsburg. He was in the employ of the Forest Oil Company as field superintendent for 12 years, but at the time stated resigned to accept a position with a London company to superintend its oil operations near Balek, Papan, on the west coast of the island of Borneo. He is located some distance in the interior and the sad news may not reach him until late in the present year. Mrs. Carnahan's mother resides in Allegheny and the remains will be brought here for interment.

William H. Greer, aged 53, a clerk in the middle division of the pension bureau, died yesterday morning at Garfield hospital, at Washington, D. C., of typhoid fever. Mr. Greer had been in the hospital for treatment for ten days. He resided in Washington for about 20 years and was well known in the city, especially among the employes of the pension bureau. He was unmarried. The remains were taken to Berkeley, Somerset county, Pa., where the funeral services will be held and interment will be made. The body was accompanied from this city by Judge John M. Greer of Butler county, a brother of the deceased.

FUNNY SHIFTS TAKE PLACE IN POLICE BUREAU

Henry Whitehouse Gladly Accepts a Captaincy Then Suddenly Declines It.

POWERS BEHIND SCENES

Director Leslie Made to Do Distasteful Thing—Disgraced Inspector Glad to Be Made a Captain, Sees O'Mara and Again Things Change.

There was another funny performance in the Pittsburgh bureau of police yesterday, in which Director Leslie and Henry Whitehouse played the star parts. Who or what forced them to take the steps they did is not apparent just now. Certain it is, however, that some influence was at work behind the scenes and on both sides of the stage.

Whitehouse has been connected with the police department of Pittsburgh for 15 years. Most of that time he had a soft berth, where there was not much to do. He was a Magee favorite most of the time, and though many of the Magee followers often protested against his being kept in place, Whitehouse always had a good thing.

Many Shifts for Whitehouse.

In December, 1901, then an inspector in the Oakland district, he was discharged from the bureau of police. In February of this year he was reappointed an inspector and assigned to the Fourth district. In the meantime the municipal election, in which the reform element obtained control of common council, had been held. There are some who charge that Whitehouse, in revenge for being dismissed in December, helped to defeat W. A. Magee for re-election to common council after having served in that body for over 20 years.

On July 5 last Whitehouse was temporarily dismissed from the police service by Director Leslie because of conduct unbecoming an officer. This conduct was of a nature that was particularly offensive to Leslie, and the wonder has often been expressed why Leslie did not discharge Whitehouse outright, instead of temporarily.

Got Ready in a Hurry.

Yesterday Whitehouse was tendered the position of police captain, with assignment to the South Side district. The appointment was made, presumably, by Director Leslie. Whitehouse promptly accepted the position and made arrangements to get his uniform and start to work at once. In the meantime he was intercepted by former Superintendent of Detectives Roger O'Mara, who made him a flattering proposition of some kind and succeeded in persuading Whitehouse not to enlist himself on Director Leslie's payroll.

When Whitehouse appeared at the building of the department of public safety in the morning he was all smiles. He had a copy of Leslie's letter to Assistant Superintendent of Police William Wilson, announcing the appointment of Whitehouse to a captaincy and his assignment to the South Side. Whitehouse told Wilson that he was delighted to be back on the pay roll, especially as he needed the money. He asked Wilson where he could get his uniform made and was directed to a certain tailor favored. Whitehouse started for that place. Before leaving he said that he would start to work in the evening.

O'Mara Must Have Said Something.

Whitehouse at once walked across the street to the office of Roger O'Mara. The ex-chief of detectives was sitting on the front step. Whitehouse told O'Mara that he had been appointed a captain in the Fifth district. O'Mara growled two or three times and then took Whitehouse into his private office.

At the conclusion of a confab there Whitehouse went back to Assistant Superintendent Wilson's office and stated that he had decided not to accept the position of captain and that Wilson could inform Leslie to that effect.

"Leslie treated me pretty mean after all that I did for him and his department," said Whitehouse, "and I've been thinking the proposition over since I accepted it, Mr. Wilson, and decided that I cannot work for Director Leslie again."

Superintendent Wilson told him he had better think the matter over and get on the pay roll again. Whitehouse refused to consider the matter further and left the building.

Leslie Forced to Act.

It is a well-known fact that Director Leslie was forced to make this appointment and that he did it very reluctantly. Director Leslie has been bitterly opposed to Whitehouse ever since Leslie was made superintendent of police five years ago. While superintendent he wished to discharge Whitehouse on several occasions, alleging as reasons, insubordination, political infidelity and conduct unbecoming an officer, but Whitehouse always secured the Magee influence when things began to pinch, and held his place.

The question now is, who is the strong man who controls the Whitehouse situation and makes him throw up a position which only one hour before he was delighted to get? And who forced Leslie to swallow such a bitter dose as the appointing of Whitehouse must have been to him?

Assistant Paymaster of the Army Denies Charges at Erie Courtmartial.

ERIE, PA., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—The first witnesses in the trial by court-martial of Assistant Paymaster Charles W. Penrose were examined at today's session. Judge Advocate E. B. Rogers read the charges and specifications against the paymaster. He is accused of making false returns, embezzlement, scandalous conduct, being absent without leave and negligence in obeying orders. The first two charges relate to the alleged drawing of $812 13 from the public fund for his own use and his failure to report the checks drawn.

Penrose pleaded not guilty to all charges and Maj. L. W. T. Waller, his counsel, declared to the court that they expected to disprove them. The statement of the First National bank of Erie showed four checks, aggregating $225, drawn by Penrose during April for hotel bills while in Washington. No record of these, it is claimed, appeared in the April report of the paymaster to the department.

NEW SMALLPOX ADDITION READY

USED WITH PRESENT PEST HOUSE IT WILL AID HEALTH BUREAU.

Bids Are Asked for New $80,000 Smallpox Hospital and Work Will Be Rushed at Once—General Institution Badly Needed, Say Leslie.

Possession will be taken of the new addition to the municipal hospital by the department of public safety today. The work of getting in the necessary furnishings will then begin at once. The addition will accommodate from 80 to 90 more patients, and will relieve the overtaxed municipal hospital, and ease matters very greatly in fighting disease. Director A. H. Leslie was pleased yesterday to know that relief was so near. The department was able to build this addition out of the extra money that councils furnished, and some of it is left to fit up the place. It will furnish all the room necessary until the new hospital is built.

Several months ago councils passed a resolution transferring $10,000 from the contingent fund to the bureau of health fund to be used for building a temporary addition to the pesthouse, but the addition has been so well built that it will likely be used for some years. It was at first intended to spend the money in the erection of tents only.

Will Be Great Help.

Director Leslie decided that a building would be more to the purpose, so he expended a good proportion in the erection of the building, which is set up against the old one, and the same set of administration officers can care for it.

"This addition will help us out vastly," said Director Leslie yesterday, "as we have about 100 patients in the hospital and that number is entirely too many. The new addition will accommodate about 50 patients, and the same set of officers can take care of the building. We had thought of isolating it, but decided not to do that, because it would have required a great many more employes to keep it going. As it is, it adds greatly to the number of patients that we are able to take care of without adding appreciably to the expense. We also built a new doctor's office, as one was badly needed. We never had one there."

"There has been a great deal of criticism," continued the director, "of my plans for the new municipal hospital, for which I am asking bids. I was misquoted concerning several things. I am not here for the purpose of criticising either Controller Larkin or councils.

For Smallpox Only.

"I think that the hospital, which I have planned to cost $80,000, will be large enough, in addition to our present facilities, to take care of the virulent disease which has been raging in Pittsburgh. We can use the old pesthouse, the new addition, and these, with the new building which we are to construct, will take care of this disease entirely.

"But when we come to build a hospital that will take care of all contagious or infectious diseases it is another matter. The city of Pittsburgh ought to have a general hospital, a hospital where all sorts of patients can be sent that must be taken care of by the city. By that I mean contagious or infectious diseases of all kinds, persons that are injured in various ways that must be cared for by the city.

General Hospital Needed.

"We must have a place where we can send these people, for the bill we pay annually to various hospitals for taking care of them amounts to a pretty sum. We ought to have that kind of a hospital, and, of course, we all know that $80,000 will not come anywhere near building that sort of an institution.

"But $80,000 will build a smallpox hospital that will amply take care of the disease, in addition to the facilities we already have. The old pesthouse was large enough for the day and generation in which it was built. There were not nearly enough bath rooms and the like when the heavy run on the hospital began, and we had to build more of them. We have been hard pressed for accommodations, and we have been doing the best we can.

"We are going to build a good smallpox hospital for $80,000, and one that will be large enough. But the city of Pittsburgh must some day build a good general hospital for all sorts of cases, and it will take several times $80,000 to do this."

LARKIN AT WORK AGAIN.

Knocks Out Contract for Engine House in Thirty-Second Ward in Important Decision.

City Controller Larkin knocked out the award of contracts for the building of a fire engine house in the Thirty-second ward yesterday, and rendered an important decision affecting the methods of dealing with contract awards. The ordinance authorizing the letting of contracts for the engine house was passed October 16, 1901. In December a general ordinance was passed which specified that no contract could be let until an ordinance was passed giving the item of appropriation to which it should be charged. The engine house ordinance does not comply with it in this regard, therefore the controller holds that a new ordinance will be required before the house is built.

In support of his action the city attorney has decided that any street improvement measure enacted prior to the passage of the general ordinance will have to be repassed in shape to comply with its provisions.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY.

Trio of Well-Known Pickpockets in the Clutches of the Police.

Detectives William Elmore and Charles McGovern arrested James Coleman of Chicago, John Henry of Detroit and James Webb of Newport at the Union station at 6 o'clock last evening and locked them in Central police station as suspicious persons. The trio are pickpockets, well known to the police throughout the United States.

Last night Elmore and McGovern identified two of them. Coleman is known as "Benny Haines" and has a long criminal record. John Henry is known as "William Maxwell," and was tried for the murder of a thief, Dick Collins, in Chicago several years ago and acquitted.

The men were working the crowds at the Union station, and when arrested had caps and soft hats in their pockets to disguise themselves if detected at work. They also had several hundred dollars on their persons. They will be arraigned this morning before Magistrate McKenna.

POLITICAL FIGHT ALREADY ON.

Swissvale Will Vote on Saloon Question in February.

Notwithstanding that the election does not take place in Swissvale until February next, the political pot in that borough is fast boiling and the coming campaign promises to be the most lively one ever held there. The cause of it all is the desire on the part of a number of the residents to have the local option laws revoked and liquor sold within the borough. The matter is to be decided by the voters at the election in February, and both sides are working hard to win out.

Swissvale borough was formed from a part of Wilkins township, which was local option, and as the borough is the home of many prominent professional and business men who desire to have it remain a quiet residence district, the matter of having liquor sold in the borough has stirred up a good deal of feeling.

On the other hand, the "wets" are spending money with a lavish hand and are perfecting their organization.

ALICE C. BEST CONTESTS HER HUSBAND'S WILL

Friend Had Papers Leaving Property to Brothers and Sisters.

WIFE GOT SMALL SHARE

After Widow Had Taken Out Letters of Administration, a Document Was Opened Disclosing Best Had Named Other Beneficiaries.

A contest was begun yesterday in the register's office over the estate of Edward K. Best of Avalon. The contestant is Mrs. Alice C. Best, widow of the decedent, who refuses to take under the will.

A week ago Mrs. Best took out letters of administration upon the estate. Learning that an employé of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company had some of her husband's papers, Mrs. Best demanded them. The man refused to give them up because he had promised Best to deliver them only to his sister, Lizzie E. Best. It was finally agreed that the envelope containing the papers should be taken to the register's office and opened there. This was done yesterday.

In the envelope were some insurance papers and a will dated May 19, 1902. Before this will could be offered for probate Mrs. Best's lawyer hurriedly filed a caveat against it.

The will directed that the life insurance money be paid to the persons named upon the certificates. It is also ordered that the decedent's house and lot at No. 208 Fisk street, Avalon, be sold, and the proceeds divided among the testator's wife, Ralph Best, a son, Lizzie E. Best, a sister, and William F. Best, a brother. About $1,000 in the Germania Savings bank is left to the decedent's sister, Lizzie E. Best.

NOT CAUSE OF ACTION.

Smallpox Convalescent Denies Knoxville's Right to Recover for Money Expended in His Behalf.

A demurrer was filed yesterday to the action of the borough of Knoxville against William H. White. It was for a foreign attachment, and W. M. Lang & Sons, B. F. Jarrett and Catherine Breitsch were named as garnishees.

White went to Knoxville from Ohio to live, and shortly after his arrival it was discovered he had the smallpox. The borough took charge of the case and, it is said, spent considerable money providing a physician's care and for medicines. After White's recovery, it is claimed, he went to Ohio again, whereupon the borough sought to recover the sum expended and issued an attachment against him.

In the demurrer it is stated that the facts set forth do not constitute a cause of action warranting the issuing of a writ.

ARRESTED TWO DELINQUENTS.

Altoona Officers Enforced Collection of Poll Tax.

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 12.—County Tax Collector Elway today caused the arrest of two young men for not paying their poll or occupation tax. They had told him he could not compel them to pay.

When they arrived in sight of the jail they agreed to settle. They told the officer who had them in charge to take them to the collector's office, where they were obliged to pay several dollars extra as costs. Elway and Delinquent School Tax Collector Clingerman have decided to imprison every young man who does not pay the taxes assessed against him.

ADDITIONAL interest and value are given to the superb collection of pictures owned by the Fourth Avenue Baptist Sunday school because of the death of the celebrated French artist, Jean Joseph Jacques Tissot, a few days ago. The pictures in the possession of the Sunday school are reproductions of the famous paintings by Tissot illustrating the life of Christ. The series was completed by the artist in 1894 and four years later, in February, 1898, the reproductions were secured.

Two years after Tissot's series of paintings was completed Charles A. Edsall, the assistant superintendent of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Sunday school, was traveling in Europe, and saw the paintings on exhibition in London. On his return he interested several of his friends in a plan to secure a complete set of reproductions, and in the early part of 1898 one-half of the set was received, the second half arriving a few months later.

The paintings represent scenes in the life of Christ and are 200 in number. M. Tissot was a distinguished artist and an infidel. About 25 years ago he became converted to Christianity, and devoted his life and his art to his religion. His paintings are most accurate as to local scenery, manners, customs and costumes, for he spent many of the following years in Palestine, where he not only painted but lived for months at a time, in order to absorb more completely the artistic and religious atmosphere. Many of the paintings show complex grouping, all exhibit rare coloring and show the depth of religious fervor which inspired them.

The reproductions are exceedingly valuable. Only two sets are known to have come to Pittsburgh, that owned by the Fourth Avenue Baptist Sunday school and another in the possession of the Carnegie library. At first a very few sets of reproductions were made, which became the property of the czar of Russia, Mr. Gladstone and a few other notable people. The first few collections cost $1,000 each. A second set was soon published, the price of which was reduced to $400, and finally a third set, to which belong the two sets owned in Pittsburgh, which cost over $100 each. Those owned by the Sunday school were secured as an adjunct to the study of the lessons. The entire set came bound in book form in two volumes, but for the benefit of the many scholars the pictures were taken out and framed. Some of them are reproductions in color, others in monotone, and they constitute a rare collection. They were hung upon the walls of the chapel and Sunday school room, where they could be studied.

Tissot was, probably, because of his great work, the illustration of the life of Christ, the most famous of the present Anglo-French artists. He was born at Nantes, France, October 15, 1836, and studied under Lamothe and Landrin. In 1866 he won a medal at the Salon, and in 1889 a first-class medal at the Paris exposition. Shortly after 1870 he went to England, where he spent the best years of his life. Among his best-known works, apart from his paintings of Christ and Palestine, are: "A Young Woman in Church," which won attention in 1866; "Confidence," 1867; "The Retreat in the Garden of the Tuileries," 1868; "The Widow," 1869; "A Young Girl in a Boat," 1870; "The Meeting of Faust With Marguerite," 1871; "An Interesting Story," 1872; "The Captain's Daughter," 1873; and "The Thames," 1876.

An Enlarged Public Bath House.

Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., has given the site for the enlargement of the public bath house in Penn avenue, which was finished and opened in 1897, as a memorial to her husband, William Thaw, Jr. The addition will be erected upon property immediately in the rear of the present structure, the new building to be 90x22½ feet in size and provided with 20 or 25 additional baths. This will double the present equipment of the bath house, as the present building has 22 shower baths and two tub baths.

The public bath house when opened was placed in charge of the Civic club of Allegheny, under whose direction it has been conducted. The bath house is self-supporting, as a small fee is charged—five cents procuring a towel and a piece of antiseptic soap. The fee is less where the bather provides himself with his towel and soap. During the warm weather the baths are very freely patronized by old and young, the children composing a large proportion of the number of bathers recorded. In one year a number approximating 70,000 has been reported. The arrangements of the building are thoroughly modern in every respect, the building having been planned and erected after a most careful study of all similar institutions both in this country and in Europe.

No Summer Bowel Troubles

Not for me! I'm safe from all of them and happy. The heat of summer causes organic matter everywhere to decay. All dead vegetable or animal matter rots if not kept on ice. All undigested food in the human body will ferment a hundred times as quickly in summer as in winter. Consequence—stomach, liver, bowels poisoned, thrown out of order—sour stomach, gases, colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera, appendicitis, and in some regions yellow fever and the plague. Little children suffer terribly everywhere. What does good sense tell you to do? You can't keep the human body on ice, and the drinking of ice-cold drinks does more harm than good because it stops digestion and chills the internal organs. The proper thing is to keep all impure and unnecessary matter out of the body every day, not give it a chance to sour and decay in the stomach and bowels, and poison the blood and the whole body. In this way you will stop all hot, feverish conditions, and keep your insides cool and healthy. To do it, use a medicine that is not offensive to the taste and not harsh and violent in its action. There is only one safe system-cleaner to take in the summer time, because it will not cause diarrhoea or griping, and that is

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—A stocky young man by the name of Charles Pittinger was the cause of the undoing of the "coming champions" on the National league baseball grounds this afternoon. He has ever been more or less of a stiff proposition for the batsmen of Pittsburgh, and today the varied assortments of shoots, curves and twists that he served up was something long to be remembered. The net result was nine large goose eggs for the visiting experts, and, as the locals continued to accumulate 11 tallies in the same time, it was little wonder that an air of great solemnity pervaded the quarters of the Pittsburgh players at the Quincy house tonight.

From time to time during today's matinee the wind lifted the railway's free smoke from the field, and 2,500 spectators caught glimpses of grinning Buckenbergerites doing an endless chain act around the bases. They also saw an expression of agony on the features of Mr. Doheny, who essayed to pitch for the visitors, and their ears heard the regular concussion of swats which denoted base hits, interspersed with mellow plunks of bunts.

Boston Started Off Well.

Bostcn scored in the very first inning. Dexter drew a base on balls. Plunging into the cloud of locomotive smoke, he stole second while Ritchey was groping for the throw. He went to third when Conroy tossed Tenney's grounder high to Bransfield, and butted home through the cinders on another infield worry. The fourth inning saw Calamity unchained and Boston began to take revenge for the quartet of defeats last month. Eleven men faced Doheny in this inning. He began by trying to bury the ball in the pit of Carney's stomach. Then the Buckenbergerites discovered that, what with smoke and a skyward tendency, Doheny could only field bunts with a dip net.

Greminger poked one down on him, he tried to catch Carney at second, and both men were safe. Dement tried it, and Doheny fumbled. Lush slammed out a single, and there were two runs across the rubber. Moran bunted, and once more Doheny failed to field it in time. Up to the plate strode Pittinger. He picked out a choice ball, smote it for a hit adorned with frills, and two more tallies were chalked up. Dexter's smashing double scored another couple. Toney sacrificed, sending Dexter to third, whence that player scored a moment later, despite Ritchey's gallant attempt to cut him off on Cooley's grounder. The next two men were outs.

Still Doheny Was in the Air.

In the eighth Boston took three more runs, quite superfluous, as the sequel showed. Doheny made scrambled eggs of another bunt and passed Carney. Greminger beat out a short hit and Bransfield let the throw go by him. Dement's out at first and Lush's safe drive ended the scoring. Pittsburgh never came near getting a man around until the ninth, when they managed to get two men on bases, with one out. But Pittinger was equal to the emergency, and, putting on a little more steam, retired the side on weak infield hits. Boston and Pittsburgh play a double-header tomorrow. The score:

BOTH LEAGUES ARE LIKELY TO GET TOGETHER

John T. Brush Working on a Scheme to End the Baseball War.

A TWELVE-CLUB CIRCUIT

Opposition Teams Are to Be United in the Big Cities and the Weaker Towns Will Be Frozen Out--Will Drop Ban Johnson.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Following the plans of the National league magnates who met in Boston yesterday, an attempt will be made to amalgamate the American and National leagues, set aside Ban Johnson, provide for only one big team in such cities as Chicago, St. Louis, Boston and Philadelphia, and re-establish a 12-club National-American league. The consent for such a scheme as outlined by Brush has been conceded by such men as Auten, owner of the American league Boston club, Hedges of St. Louis and Angus of Detroit.

Even Comiskey of the American league Chicago club is willing to consider such a plan favorably. It will mean to Comiskey that either he or Hart of the National league club plays on the West Side grounds, Jim Hart selling out to him, or Comiskey selling to Hart. Hart is said to favor the scheme either way.

Where the Hitches Will Come.

This is the scheme which Brush is working on. The hitches will come in Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago. In Cleveland it will be largely because of Johnson's influence with the owners there; in Philadelphia, because of Col. Rogers; in Chicago both Hart and Comiskey will likely want to stay in baseball. Hart is said to have declared that he will buy or sell in the new league. If Comiskey can raise the money and the big deal goes through, he has given assurances that he will fall in line, and stop this baseball war.

"In regard to the deal," said one magnate this afternoon, "let me say that in Boston the matter will be easily adjusted, inasmuch as Auten is a National leaguer at heart and owns the American league club there.

"In St. Louis, where public sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of the National league, Mr. Hedges of the American league team has consented to the scheme should the partners be willing to join him. There, too, it will be a case of buy or sell for either party, and both sides will be willing. It is said that Angus bought the Detroit club with the understanding that it should go into the new combine and under assurances that such a combine will go through. Hart and Brush have personally been in communication with the American league leaders with this in view and Hart on his way east visited several of the big cities for Brush."

Brush Admits It's True.

John T. Brush, when seen at his hotel this afternoon, said: "There is absolutely no truth in the story that I am trying to get control of the New York club. I am still owner of the Cincinnati club and will be until next Saturday. I have plenty of bills to pay without buying big blocks of New York club stock. My aim is good baseball in the National league."

Mr. Brush refused to talk about the big deal, but he practically admitted the truth of the story.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT.

Baltimore Stockholders Will Stick to the American.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Baltimore baseball club today it was resolved to use every effort in securing a judicial decision as to the status of the club in relation to its interest in the American league grounds in this city and in the earnings of the club. To that end the attorneys for the majority stockholders will press to a speedy trial the pending case in which a receiver is asked for by the minority shareholders. There was a manifest determination at today's meeting that whatever may transpire, Baltimore shall be represented in the American league until the end of the present season.

PAYMENT IS MADE FOR SHIPBUILDING PLANTS

New Company Is Exclusively an American Enterprise—To Build Foreign Vessels.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The Trust Company of the Republic today completed the payments of all the shipbuilding plants held under the options of the United States Shipbuilding Company, including the Bethlehem Steel Company, Union Iron works, San Francisco; Bath Iron works and Hyde Windlass Company, Bath, Me.; Eastern Shipbuilding Company, New London, Conn.; Harlan & Hollingsworth Company, Wilmington, Del.; Crescent ship yards, Elizabeth, N. J.; Samuel L. Moore & Son Company, Elizabeth, N. J., and the Canda Manufacturing Company, Carteret, N. J.

This consummates the transaction, and the business organization will begin at once by concentrating in different yards different types of vessels and introducing economies which are expected to result in increased profits over those of the independent companies before they were brought together.

Daniel Leroy Dresser, president of the Trust Company of the Republic, says: "There have been no negotiations whatever between Vickers, Maxim & Vickers and the United States Shipbuilding Company."

Mr. Nixon was asked as to the report that the new company had acquired the Vickers, Maxim & Vickers plants in England. He said: "Our desire is to put American shipbuilding establishments upon such a basis that we can build foreign ships here. No steps looking to taking in English plants have been taken."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Steel Company today an issue of $7,500,000 5 per cent 30-year bonds was authorized.

These bonds, which are all subscribed, are to provide funds to pay for the Cornwall iron ore banks blast furnaces at Lebanon and a controlling interest in the Cornwall & Lebanon railroad. They will be secured by a first mortgage on these properties, which were bought at the time the Pennsylvania Steel Company was reorganized by the new company in May, 1901.

Settlement was delayed by a legal question as to the titles. These were confirmed by the supreme court of Pennsylvania about two months ago. The new bonds will also pay for the construction of coke ovens at Lebanon, with an output of about 600 tons a day, or about enough to supply the Pennsylvania steel furnaces there with fuel.

FAST RACING BY HORSES ON GRAND CIRCUIT

High Wind Prevented Records, but the Going Was Very Exciting.

BIG RACE IS CALLED OFF

The Abbot Is Lame and Will Not Meet Lord Derby—Dan Patch and Anaconda and Prince Alert Will Try for World's Records.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 12.—The second day of the grand circuit meeting at the Brighton Beach track had an excellent card. The weather was bright and cool, but a high wind prevented fast time. The management announced that owing to The Abbot being lame the $10,000 match between the ex-champion and Lord Derby was declared off. In its place on Thursday Prince Alert, 2:00¾, and Anaconda, 2:01¾, will compete for a purse of $5,000 to beat the world's pacing record, and Dan Patch, 2:00¾, will go a mile against time to beat the world's time record, held by Star Pointer, of 1:59¼.

With favorable weather it looks as if both records are in danger, as the track is fast and the horses are in first-class condition.

Tiverton Made Good.

The opening race of the day was the 2:24 trot, which had a field of 11. The bay gelding Tiverton was a hot favorite at $50 to $70 for the field, and after a good deal of scoring William Tell, at the pole, led off with the favorite in close attendance, while Geers, with The Quester, was a good third. At the half Tiverton moved up and went to the front, winning by a length. In the next two heats Tiverton had it all his own way and in the third won by two lengths in a jog. The victory was never in doubt and the winner seems capable of going in far faster company.

The Metropolitan, $5,000, for the 2:20 pace also had a hot favorite in the bay stallion Direct Hal, who has won every race he has started in this season. The field was a strong one and the betting was wild, heavy and sensational in the extreme, one plunger laying $30,000 to $22,500 in the pools on the favorite, whose price was at $100 to $75. Miss Wilamont drew the pole, but as soon as the word was given Greenline, with a splendid burst of speed, took the lead and got the pole, with Elderone second and the favorite, who got the worst of the start, third. In the back stretch Direct Hal tried to get to the front, but was interfered with by Elderone and a foul occurred. Greenline led into the stretch, when Geers came with one of his well-known finishes and won by half a length. Elderone was distanced for the foul. In the second heat the battle was again between Greenline and the favorite from start to finish, and in the third the favorite won easily by three lengths from Tertimin, Greenline breaking so badly on the top turn that he was distanced.

Raced on the Novelty Plan.

The 2:18 class for trotters was on the novelty plan, in which each heat is practically a race, as the winners of the first and second heats retire after each heat, the balance competing for the third. First money goes to the winner of the fastest heat, second and third money decided also by the time made, while fourth money goes to the horse in the next best position in the summary. Prince of Orange in the Geers stable was the favorite, though Allie Wood was a close second. The latter won in a good finish by a length from Wilton Boy. For the second heat Wilton Boy was the choice, but again he was second, as Prince of Orange came with a great rush down the stretch and won easily. The third heat was won by Alvander, in 3 in 1 shot, with Silver Heir and Remay in the positions. In the Horse Review 3-year-old pacing stake the bay filly Ecstatic had a walk-over, Lorabie Bell, her only competitor, being drawn.

BENNETT GOT SWEET REVENGE FOR HIS DEFEAT

The Homestead Twirler Made Seashore Batters Look Very Small.

THE SMOKY CITY ROOTERS

They Were Out in Force and Plugged Good and Hard for the Steeltown Team — Marshall Showed Great Speed on the Bases.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 12.—The game here today between the H. L. A. C. and Atlantic City teams was attended by about 1,200. The locals seemed to have a bad case of stage fright and Bennett took sweet revenge for Friday's defeat. Marshall, McCloskey and Quinn took batting honors, while the twirling of Bennett seemed to daze the Atlantic City sluggers. Bray was the only man on the local team that could land safely. His work was greatly appreciated by Pittsburgh rooters. The base running of Marshall was a feature. Score:

WHEELING'S LUCKY WIN.

Varner Pitched Great Ball But His Team Lost.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Varner of the Ford City club pitched a wonderful game for Johnstown today, allowing Wheeling only two hits and striking out nine men, but errors by Goff and Burns gave them enough to win. Lucas also pitched a good game for Wheeling, and with proper support the score would have been 2 to 1 in Johnstown's favor. The Wheeling infield worked like machinery. The same clubs play tomorrow. COLORADO FUEL IS NOW CLAIMED BY GATES PARTY

Announces in New York That They Hold Proxies on 200,000 Shares.

BOOKS ARE THROWN OPEN

Double Victory Comes to Western Contingent in One Day—Also Allied With Gould Interests—No Summer Dullness in Iron and Steel

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 12.—The following was issued today from the office of Harris, Gates & Co.:

"John J. Mitchell, John W. Gates and James A. Blair, as proxy committee for the annual meeting of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, formally announce that they have received proxies for approximately 200,000 shares out of a total of 260,000 shares outstanding. This gives them an overwhelming majority of at least 140,000 shares."

Simultaneously with the above came the news from Denver, in the form of a private dispatch to the firm of Harris, Gates & Co., that the opposition or Gates faction has scored a victory in the Colorado courts, obtaining an order requiring the officials now in control of the property to produce the books wherein the names of stockholders are recorded.

This Colorado victory, however, is now of a nominal importance, if, as the Gates party represents, it has such an overwhelming majority of proxies. The action at law to gain access to the books is said to have been but a precautionary measure anyway, or rather a step that was taken before the opposition was quite sure of its position. In obedience to an order from the New York courts, the Knickerbocker Trust Company of this city produced the disputed records in its possession more than a week ago, but these were not complete, and the opposition had to carry its purpose to Colorado. The Osgood faction has yet to be heard from. It is surprising to find that it commands an insignificant 60,000 shares out of a total of 260,000, after having insisted all along that it should turn up in control of the company at the meeting August 20.

Gates in With Gould.

The Gould stocks were very much to the fore in today's session of the stock market, and there is interesting talk of a sustained campaign in the Gould quarter of the railroad list. The rise of St. Louis Southwestern issues and Missouri Pacific and the conspicuous strength of Texas Pacific were predicted avowedly upon the government crop report, showing the corn crop to be up to the most sanguine expectations. Speculative designs, however, were more or less apparent.

There is almost conclusive evidence that the Gates party has been working in harmony with the Gould-Rockefeller pool in the stocks in which the latter has been active for more than a month. The Gates party, for example, is openly bullish on Texas Pacific. Its brokers have been prominent, also, in the upholding of St. Louis Southwestern and have been seen, too, in Missouri Pacific.

The story is brought down from Saratoga that George Gould and John W. Gates made a bargain to bull Manhattan handsomely for mutual benefit just before the present labor trouble broke out. The speculative position of Manhattan is very strong, and once the grievances of the engineers are settled a campaign is likely to be introduced. The Gates party, it may be remarked, is no respecter of stocks, being equally willing to bull a Morgan, a Standard Oil or a Harriman specialty if it can see prospective profit in the operation.

Money Outlook Better.

The evident indisposition of the banks to disturb loans beyond the extent of absolute necessity has restored some measure of professional confidence in the monetary outlook. It has also strengthened the supposition that to the utmost limit of safety the banks are in spirit with bullish operations. The immediate situation is eased by the fortunate circumstance that the largest commission houses are abundantly supplied with money which they borrowed on time in anticipation of greater speculative activity, and a considerable percentage of which they have since been lending on call in the open market.

It is expected that the first annual report of the American Locomotive Company, which will be issued about September 1, will be a very satisfactory exhibit. Ever since its organization the company's capacity has been taxed to the minimum, notwithstanding that the output of the several constituent plants has been greatly increased since the combine began business. The domestic demand for locomotives has broken all previous records. Demands from the big railroad systems have surpassed all expectations, and the home market having absorbed nearly the entire output of locomotives the American Locomotive Company has not been active in the foreign trade. In spite of this, however, a number of foreign orders have been filled, locomotives having been exported to Africa, Mexico and Japan. A large Japanese contract was taken in competition with English and German manufacturers. The American locomotive is rising in favor in foreign countries, and American manufacturers regard the foreign field as an outlet in reserve, should the domestic demand fall off. There is no sign, however, of any falling off in domestic demand.

No Dullness in Sight.

Reports that are being received here from the various iron and steel centers show that the demand for basic material continues unabated. Many competent observers were afraid that the buying movement had exhausted itself in July and that August would bring the usual summer dullness. It begins to appear that there is not going to be any summer dullness at all this year, at least there is no sign of a dull period anywhere on the horizon. The action of large consumers in covering their pig iron requirements for the first six months of next year has greatly stimulated the market, and those who have been holding back are now coming forward with their orders.

The buying of all grades of finished iron for delivery during the first three quarters of next year continues on gradually rising quotations. Present indications are that the general buying movement will be as heavy during August as it was during July.

Except in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, where coke shipments have been somewhat unsatisfactory of late, the coke situation shows a slight improvement, although the product is still very scarce. It was reported today that some considerable orders have been placed for the last half of next year, and that tonnage of this character is being tendered more and more freely. Inquiries have been received for deliveries over the whole of next year from January to December, but it is not reported that any business has been booked on these terms.

WILL DEVELOP RICH VEIN OF LEAD ORE

Pittsburgh Lead Mining and Smelting Company Organized With Capital of $100,000.

The Pittsburgh Lead Mining and Smelting Company, largely composed of local men, has been organized to develop claims rich in free land, in Franklin county, Mo. The company has arranged for the sinking of a shaft to a depth of 100 feet, where the free ore has been located in a vein of 13 inches, in connection with a 3-foot vein of disseminated ore.

The company starts with capitalization of $100,000, all paid in. It has arranged to sell its output to a nearby smelting concern for the present, and will later erect a smelter of its own. The company was chartered in New Jersey through the New Jersey Corporation, Guarantee and Trust Company.

A drift opening developed the large fissure of the free lead, which has been assayed as 80 per cent galena. The ore is being sold to the near smelting concern at $50 a ton. In about 60 days the main shaft will be ready for heavy development.

The company completed its organization on Monday with the following officers: J. M. Porter, president of the United States National bank, president; W. J. Prentice of the Castalia Portland Cement Company, vice-president; Frank Thompson of the law firm of Thompson & Thompson, secretarys and J. M. Todd, associated with W. J. Moreland, the wholesale hatter, assistant secretary.

Some Railroads, However, Show a Decrease in Net Earnings—Time Loans and Commercial Paper Show Hardening Tendency.

New York, Aug. 12.—The dominating factors in the stock market continue to be the coming crops and the money outlook. Crop news was eminently satisfactory today, both that of the monthly report of the agricultural department and the later current news of the weather bureau, but it is to be borne in mind that the speculation for some time past has been diligently discounting good crops, which have been clearly foreshadowed.

On the other hand, the autumn activity in the money market, while it has been expected and made the subject of industrious warnings, has been ignored in speculation. This week's rise in money rates, therefore, would naturally be of most effect on speculative conditions. Buyers in anticipation of good crops, seeing the danger of a flurry in the money market which might force liquidation of stocks and attracted by the high level to which prices have attained, are tempted to sell to realize their profits.

There was considerable strength at one time today and in a few cases it continued to the close, but for the most part the early rise in prices was taken advantage of to realize profits and the general level of prices ended lower than last night. There was a further contraction also in the volume of the dealings, which dropped back again below half a million shares.

Big Crops Expected.

Unofficial estimates on today's government reports indicate a wheat harvest of over 672,000,000 bushels. This is nearly 100,000,000 bushels below the crop of last year, but has never been exceeded except by that crop and the one of 1898. As for the corn crop, today's government figures indicate a yield the largest in the history of the country. This had its effect among the southwestern grangers, especially among the Gould group.

Another striking show of strength was made by Baltimore & Ohio. Among the returns of railroad gross earnings for the first week of August Chesapeake & Ohio shows a decrease of $103,553 compared with last year and Missouri Pacific's earnings for the same period declined $28,000. The two groups of railroads in which the strongest showings were made handicapped by this unfavorable influence.

As for the money market, the rate for call loans averaged more nearly 4 per cent than the 3 per cent which was the maximum up to yesterday. Time loans and commercial paper showed a hardening tendency as well, five and six months loans on good mixed stock exchange collateral ruling at 5 per cent. The rise in money rates, however, had a perceptible effect upon foreign exchange rates, which receded a fraction and tentative plans for further shipments of gold this week were abandoned.

Demand for Grain.

The currency movement seems to be still in favor of New York. Exchange at Chicago remained at a premium of 20 cents today. Another development was an increased export demand for grain, which held the market firm in spite of the crop report and made some exchange.

The United States treasury operations are also showing a continued deficit, the excess of expenditures thus far this month exceeding $1,500,000, while for the same period last year receipts were more than $900,000 in excess of expenditures. This affords some relief to the money market, but the beginning of the interior demand for currency is awaited nevertheless with anxiety.

The bond market was dull, and the Central of Georgia incomes were weak. Total sales, par value, $1,850,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

Wall Street Features.

The total sales for the day were 412,500 shares.

Prospects for heavy crops influence the trading.

The market opened strong and a few stocks continued active to the close.

Baltimore & Ohio showed strength during the day.

The money outlook for fall trading is reckoned upon in all dealings.

Talked About in Wall Street

(By Leased Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The Herald this (Wednesday) morning says:

Stocks, while irregular, yesterday made a partial recovery from the reaction of Monday. An uncertain tendency, however, developed in the late trading, when prices sagged. The closing was heavy. It was quite apparent that conflicting influences were at work in the market. The uncertainty of the monetary outlook neutralized, for the time being, the highly satisfactory government crop report. This was shown, however, more in the curtailment of activity than in price changes. The general list ruled very dull throughout the day, and there was an entire absence of commission house business. The strength at the opening induced some covering of shorts by the trading element. When this was completed the market became apathetic.

Pools and cliques continued active with their various specialties, but made very little effort to advance the general list, being content apparently, to hold prices at the recoveries, and ease down the market. The only brokers who were apparently active were the little group of houses employed by manuilators. The general range of commission house brokers not only reported an absence of business, but discouraging operations on the part of customers. On the other hand, there was little if any evidence of liquidation, and a strong undertone was maintained throughout the day, despite the late irregularity. Profit-taking by the leading element was the general explanation of the late heaviness.

There were practically no developments in the way of news bearing on the general situation. Discussion was made up almost entirely of the excellent crop figures of Monday and the money market considerations. There was marked falling off in the "deal" rumors, and none of those which came forth possessed any feature of novelty and were modifications of former stories. News of railroad traffic relations which came to hand was of a favorable nature. It was noted that wheat and corn advanced sharply on the produce exchanges, and there was talk of disappointment over the spring wheat indications, which were less favorable than the official forecasts. Short covering, however, was probably responsible for most of the gains.

The tendency of money was toward still firmer rates. Call funds ruled at 4 per cent, and time money was in more urgent request with no quotable change in the rates, except for the short periods. From 4⅜ to 5 per cent was asked and obtained for five and six months money, and nearly all brokers desired to borrow until after the new year. Some sterling loans appeared in the market, and some 90-day loans were reported as having been made in this form at 4¾ per cent. Cable advices reported London discounts as hardening under the offering of American finance bills. Demand sterling eased in sympathy with the firm tendency of money.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A correspondent at Lead, S. D., reports that explorations of the past year are now bearing fruit. Several important ore bodies have been developed, new stamp and cyanide mills are going up and production is increasing. The mines in the district employ 2,500 men, and up to date have produced $50,000,000 gold and paid $18,000,000 in dividends. At present the various plants are treating 5,000 tons of ore daily. By the end of this year the tonnage will be doubled.

The Bisbee, Ariz., Review, in the local market, credits the drop in prices for the day, presumably 40 to the same causes which influenced the local decline. Spot closed at 4126 1s and futures at 4124 5s. In spite of the weak market there was little change noted and prices remained as last quoted. Spot closed steady at $4 12½. London unchanged at £11 2s 6d. Spelter ruled firm on a moderate demand and offerings, as last quoted. Spot closed steady at $4 12½. London unchanged at £11 2s 6d. Spelter ruled firm on a moderate demand and being small in solid ore which is said to assay 57 per cent. The English market was unchanged at £18 12s 6d. Domestic iron was in fair demand for the season and firm in undertone. Prices were unchanged. Warrants were nominal. No. 1 foundry, northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern soft, $22 00@23 00. Glasgow was unchanged at 58s 6d. Middlesboro a trifle higher at 51s 7½d.

Another Duster Develops in the New Keener Sand Pool in Ritchie County

On Big Knot run, Clay district, Ritchie county, L. E. Wilson has drilled his test on the William Wence farm through the Keener and Big Injun sands and has a duster in both formations. This location is 1,000 feet northwest of the Drillers Oil Company's No. 1 on the George Ryan farm and shows that there is no possible chance for extending the pool in that direction.

The following shows the gauges of the gushers in the Big Knot run district: Mallory Bros. Co.'s No. 1 Freeland, 400 barrels; Driller Oil Company No. 1, George Ryan, 240 barrels, and Three Joes Oil Company's Nos. 1 and 3 Elroy Wagner, 275 and 300 barrels a day respectively.

In the "Little Germany" district, Marshall county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the J. C. Cain farm through the Gordon and will have a duster unless they can shoot some life into it. In the same district the South Penn has completed its No. 2 on the Adolph Breiding farm and has a gasser in the Gordon.

The Eclipse Oil Company has drilled its No. 3 on the J. and M. Bashart farm through the Gordon has has a 25-barrel producer.

On Richwood run, Wetzel county, the Philadelphia Company has drilled its No. 19 on the John Mills tract through the Gordon and will have a 10-barrel pumper.

In Monongalia county M. L. Benedum has drilled his test on the John Neely farm through all sands and has a light gasser in the Gordon.

In the Stout country, Doddridge county, the Maryland Oil and Gas Company has drilled a wildcat on the Pinkert Brandin tract through the Gordon and has a duster. This company holds leases in a large block of territory in that locality and will, it is understood, drill a number of test wells.

In the Meadville district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has completed a test on the Annie Wilson farm and has a show for a 15-barrel producer in the Big Injun sand.

In the Elm Run district, Ritchie county, R

Local Stocks Were Quite Active and Tone Generally Stronger

A BOOM IN THE ELECTRICS CAME AT THE WIND-UP

Both the Firsts and Seconds Were Marked Up Over $3 a Share.

WINDOW GLASS WEAKER

The Common Stock Broke, but the Preferred Advanced to $95—Steel Issues Very Dull—Coalers Were Active and Firm—Brewing Steady.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was again quite active and generally somewhat stronger than it has been in some time. The feature of the day came near the close, when there was a decided boom in Westinghouse Electric issues. In the forenoon both kinds of stock had shown symptoms of firmness and had scored considerable gains, but just about the last hour renewed buying orders sent the prices up until the firsts closed with a gain of $3 and the seconds of $3 50. The firsts sold 150 shares and closed at 110, while the seconds sold almost 600 shares and advanced to 110, but closed finally at 109½ sales and 109¼ asked. A leading house bid $1 a share to call 200 shares at $125 during the year. The stock on the local board followed Wall street for awhile but got ½ point higher when it reached 110. The advance is due to a belief that "something" will be "doing" when President Westinghouse, who is believed to have sailed from Europe yesterday for New York, arrives. It is expected an annual meeting will then be held and a gratifying showing made. Westinghouse Airbrake did not participate in the movement to any extent, 25 shares selling unchanged at 184, after which 184¼ was bid regular.

A feature of the remainder of the list was Amerlcan Window Glass common, which sold 750 shares and closed weak and ¾ lower at 62¾. The preferred was strong and 1½ higher at 95. The action of the common depends upon the result of the Atlantic City "harmony" meeting, while the advance in the preferred is credited to a revival of an old report that it would be retired by a bond issue. As yet everything seems very largely a "guess." The Steel issues were dull, Crucible common losing ⅛ at 21¾, and the preferred gaining that much at 86⅞. The Coal shares were fairly active and firm, River common advancing to 12½ and the preferred to 39⅛ on a good demand. Pittsburgh common was active at 28¾@29, while the preferred was dull and neglected. Brewing common advanced ⅛ to 28½, despite the fact that the directors only declared the usual dividend. The preferred lost ¼ at 47. Bonds were passed without a sale or material change. In the quotations Diamond National Bank advanced $5 to $415 bid, and Natural Gas of West Virginia $2 50 to $115 bid, both being new high records. Fire Proofing issues were dull, heavy and unchanged.

Pittsburgh Features.

Bank exchanges increased $659,077 86.

Sales Pittsburgh stock exchange 5,290 shares.

Westinghouse Electric issues boomed. The firsts closed at 110 and the seconds at 109½.

Window Glass declined ⅝ to 62¾.

Window Glass preferred advanced 1½ to 95.

Crucible Steel closed at 21⅜ and the preferred at 86⅞.

United States Steel preferred sold at 89½. The common was not quoted.

River Coal issues advanced fractionally.

Pittsburgh Coal common sold 1,270 shares at 28⅞@29.

Brewing issues were about steady.

Westinghouse Airbrake was unchanged at 184.

The following is a complete summary of yesterday's official transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. It shows the change in the closing selling prices, compared with the last preceding sales, the total sales of each security, the opening, high, low and closing prices and final bids and offers.

Wall Street Brokers' "Tips."

I hear that St. Louis & Southwestern common is a good buy.

I think Amalgamated Copper will do better, the trade conditions are overwhelmingly favorable.

There was some realizing of Canadian Pacific by operators who had hoped for an extra dividend.

It looks as if the higher priced stocks felt the influence in money. It is in them that most of the selling of long lots of stock is done.

The return of the ex-president of the American Ice Company was the signal for some inside manipulation in the stock.

There was some buying in Texas Pacific and it was claimed the 5 per cent earning capacity would help in the advance.

It is said the Butler pool who were so successful in Missouri Pacific, have sold out all their stock and are now going to devote their attention to Texas Pacific.

I am bullish on Big Four common, Baltimore & Ohio common, Erie first preferred and Southern Pacific. Don't think any money will be lost following these stocks.

I hear that the buying in Baltimore & Ohio common comes from a pool that has the stock slated for 120. The earnings of the Baltimore & Ohio are so remarkably large that most anything can happen to it.

Horse Market.

The improved conditions noticeable last week in the horse market were again in evidence at the exchange auction sale yesterday, when 100 horses of all grades were disposed of at prices about on a par with those ruling last Tuesday. Figures prevailing since the latter part of July are better than those controlling the market earlier in the summer and good to extra horses are selling at full demand. Retail selling is steady and good stock finds a ready market, except driving horses, which are in light request only.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Sugar, raw firm; fair refining, 2 15-16c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3 13-32c; molasses sugar, 2 11-16c; refined steady. Coffee futures opened steady, with August 5 points lower and others unchanged. For most of the session the market was flat. Receipts while heavy, were not above what the trade look for. Trifling crop cover coming forward. Both bull and bear leaders were indifferent operators until late in the day, when the latter sold rather freely, causing a break of 6 to 15 points on near months and sharply, the rest of the list holding steady. On the decline the "clique" bought August and September. The market was finally easy on near months and steady on far, with prices net unchanged to 15 points lower. Sales aggregated 23,500 bags, including August, 5 25@5 35c; September, 5 25@5 30c; October, 5 20c; December, 5 20@5 25c; January, 5 25c; March, 5 40c; May, 5 50c; July, 5 60c.

PROPERTY IN WOOD STREET CHANGES HANDS

No. 108 Is Bought by John and Thomas J. Hawkins for $45,000.

EAST END LOTS TRADED

Demand for Good Renting Houses Near Sewickley—Second Lot Sale at Arcadia—Good List of Buildings Projected.

Another sale of property in lower Wood street was announced yesterday, the deal having been handled by the W. H. Skivington Company. The property purchased is No. 108 and was formerly owned by L. W. DeHaven. It was purchased by John and Thomas J. Hawkins, the well-known cigar dealers, for $45,000. The lot measures 20x92.5 feet on the east side of the street and opens on a 10-foot alley in the rear. A substantial four-story brick building occupies the entire lot. This is tenanted by the Standard Supply and Equipment Company. This is the second sale of property in this square in two weeks, the other being the Warren lot at the southeast corner of Wood street and Second avenue, which was sold for $140,000 through the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company. As the Warren lot brought $2,817 a front foot, the De Haven property is considered reasonable at the price paid, $2,250. It is located nearly across Wood street from the new eight-story warehouse of Hartje Bros., and will be further enhanced in value by the erection of another first-class building, which is projected for this immediate vicinity.

Flats for Squirrel Hill Frontage.

Through the agency of Moore & Kelly of the East End an exchange deal, involving realty valued at $48,000, has just been concluded. The parties to the deal are D. N. Seely and John Hawkins. Mr. Seely parts with his three-story apartment house standing on a lot 70x110 feet at the corner of Highland place and Reddman street, Nineteenth ward. The building contains 12 flats of four rooms each, and has lately been remodeled at a considerable expense. This property was valued at $30,000. In part payment for the flats Mr. Hawkins conveyed to Mr. Seely a plot 50x150 feet in the south side of Beechwood boulevard, near Hastings street, which was put into the deal at $18,000. A three-story colonial brick residence stands on this lot. This purchase gives Mr. Seely 282 feet of frontage in the south side of the boulevard at this point. He also owns 100 feet in the opposite side of the boulevard nearby. The larger plot is directly across the street from the property of D. Herbert Hostetter and is near the holdings of C. H. Holcomb and R. B. Mellon. Mr. Seely is at present having it filled in at the rate of 150 loads of dirt a day, and will shortly employ a landscape gardener to prepare an elaborate lawn scheme, which will include the planting of many rare shrubs and trees.

Will Find Tenants Waiting.

Property owners in the Sewickley district are beginning to realize that they have the chance for a very profitable investment in the building of strictly first-class modern houses. W. A. Way is about to inaugurate a movement in this direction by building six 10-room brick houses on his property near Edgeworth. The houses will cost about $6,000 each and will be completed, it is expected, in time for winter. They are to be built on the famous "Way's Desire," the old tract that was conveyed by original grant to the Way family. It lies between Edgeworth and Quaker Valley stations and extends from the Ft. Wayne tracks up the hill to Maple lane. A street is also to be opened through the property, making it easy of access from either station. There is a steady and increasing call for houses near Sewickley that will rent for from $35 to $50 a month. During the summer such homes are in much greater demand than in any other suburb of Pittsburgh, but good residences of this sort are sure of having the best of tenants all the year. As the rents are even higher than could be secured for such houses in the city, and the cost of building and maintaining them no more, property owners are certain to get a handsome income on their investment.

Arcadia's Healthy Boom.

On Saturday next another boom sale will be held at Arcadia, the new Castle Shannon lot plan. Including the lots disposed of at the first sale, about three weeks ago, 219 lots have been sold at prices ranging from $200 to $800 each. The contract was awarded yesterday for sewers to be laid in Elwyn avenue and Sixth street, a distance of about 1,000 feet. Other contracts for grading the streets and laying sidewalks are to be given out in a few days. J. M. Miller has the contract for the erection of 10 brick veneered houses on the plan, to cost $5,000 each. They will be owned by three business men of the South Side, who have purchased 30 lots, and propose to improve them as rapidly as possible. The plan is situated at Elwyn station, on the Castle Shannon railroad, and is being handled by C. Baltzpergar, Jr.

Not until this week has the summer slump in real estate business been felt severely on the street. In nearly every office managers and salesmen, from one to a half dozen, are taking their vacations and there is a sort of "wait-till-the-fall-blows-over" air about the place that betokens a disposition to let things take their course for a few days. In spite of this, many brokers are rushed with business, attendant upon the making of new deals or the closing up of those which have been announced recently, and quite a few cases vacations are held to be a secondary matter, and may be deferred for several weeks.

Good Prospects for Fall.

Nine permits issued yesterday, involving an expenditure of about $100,000, show that the building situation is rapidly improving and that, as has been predicted by architects and contractors, this is likely to be a busy fall in building. The buildings arranged for yesterday were as follows: The Oil Well Supply Company, three pipe and storage sheds on the Allegheny Valley railroad, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets, $60,000; William J. Doty, three brick veneered houses on Reed street, Twenty-first ward, $9,000; W. P. Newbert, three brick houses in Kelly street, Thirty-seventh ward, $5,000; John Henderson, three brick houses in Beltzhoover avenue, Thirty-eighth ward, $5,000; John Charles, four frame dwellings in Kincaid and Evaline streets, Nineteenth ward, $7,000; John Quirk, a brick house at No. 7205 Race street, Twenty-first ward, $3,000; Mrs. Catherine Leighman, a brick veneered house in Broadhead street, Thirteenth ward, $3,000; Fred Stein, a frame house in Bedford avenue, Thirteenth ward, $2,500, and H. E. Rice, a frame house in Warble street, Nineteenth ward, $900.

In Allegheny the following persons took out permits for new buildings: Fred Neuman, two two-story frame buildings in Lockley avenue, Eleventh ward, $1,900 each; A. C. Grass, three two-story and attic houses in Home avenue, Eleventh ward, $2,400 each.

Big Plot of Frontage Bought.

Shaler street: Margaret S. Denny sold to Thomas Mawhinney and James T. Fox a plot, 109x1169 feet, at the northwest corner of Shaler and Walnut streets, Thirty-fifth ward, for $7,000. The plot contains 23.24 acres.

Penn avenue: John W. Fink sold to John Mickel an improved lot, 13x52 feet, on the north side of Penn avenue, near Thirty-seventh street, Fifteenth ward, for $3,000.

Blackadore avenue: William L. Holwick bought from the German Fire Insurance Company a lot, 30x207 feet, on the east side of Blackadore avenue, Thirty-seventh ward, for $8,650. The insurance company bought the lot, which is known as the Joseph Burkle property, at sheriff's sale, and Mr. Holwick also purchased from the Chadwick Land Improvement Company, two lots in Somerset street, Twenty-first ward, for $687.50.

Grace street: Belle G. Black bought at sheriff's sale the Benjamin M. Hoffman property, a lot 50x269 feet, on the northwest side of Grace street, near Woodville avenue, Thirty-second ward, for $2,793.38.

Grace street: Charles L. Stevenson sold to the Farmers & Mechanics Savings Fund & Loan association a lot, 50x80 feet, on the northwest side of Grace street, near Woodville avenue, Thirty-second ward, for $615.

Many Small Deals.

Morningside avenue, A. Z. Byers & Co. sold for Mrs. Margaret S. Crider a lot, 20x100 feet, in the J. W. Sayer plan, Morningside avenue, Eighteenth ward, for $500.

It was rumored in realty circles that part of the old Graff-Bennett mill property in Millvale, owned by F. N. Hoffstot, had or is about to change hands. It was stated that about five acres, lying between the Pittsburgh & Western railroad tracks and the Allegheny river, would change hands, and a manufacturing plant be erected there. The rumor could not be confirmed.

QUEER ACTIONS OF NOTED THIEF CAUSED ARREST

Was Preparing to Rob a Well-Known Citizen on the Streets.

LIST OF HIS RICH HAULS

With Two Other Men He Looted Cleveland Jewelry Store of $18,000—Returned from Paris With $14,000, Exposition Profits.

James P. Patterson, alias George Williard, who is known to the police on both continents, was arrested in this city yesterday afternoon by Officer Hugh Hinchcliffe at Seventh and Liberty avenues. Patterson was in the company of two other thieves, who made their escape to Allegheny when he was arrested. The trio were planning a robbery that, if they had not been prevented by Ordinance Officer Robert Lindsey and Officer Hinchcliffe, would have netted them $1,500. Patterson was identified by Detective A. H. Swinehart as a pickpocket.

The men were first noticed by Ordinance Officer Lindsey. He was talking to Isadore Bowers at Seventh and Liberty avenues. He saw the men following E. G. Mooney of No. 6200 Penn avenue. Mr. Mooney had a large diamond in his shirt front and the men were walking about him as he approached Bowers' store. Officer Lindsey saw this and when Mooney stopped to talk to Bowers at the store the men also remained there.

Spotted the Roll.

The thieves also noticed that Bowers had a large roll of money, bulging from his trousers pocket. One of them pointed to Bowers' pocket, and Officer Lindsey appreciated their game. Mooney went to board a street car and the trio took after him. In the meantime Officer Lindsey had telephoned to the police station and Officer Hugh Hinchcliffe hurried to the scene.

Officer Hinchcliffe dived into the crowd after the men, but they saw him and immediately scattered. One went into an alley, another tried to conceal himself in a store, and the third dashed up the street. Williard went into the store and Officer Hinchcliffe arrested him.

At the Central police station a roll of bills totaling $340 was found pinned on the inside of his vest. A black cap was found in his pocket, such as is used by thieves when they wish to change their appearance quickly.

Williard was identified by Detective Swinehart, who has known him for years. He has an old and interesting record in this country and abroad. In 1899, with two other thieves, he entered Sigler Bros.' jewelry store in Cleveland, O., and succeeded in getting away with $18,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry. The gems were never recovered, and he is still under indictment for that crime in Ohio. He attracted the attention of one of the firm while the other men took several trays of diamonds and escaped.

Worked Exposition.

In 1900 he went to the Paris exposition with Barney Burch, a well-known local thief. In that city and London they stole over $20,000. Burch was apprehended in Paris and was sentenced to five years in prison. When Williard landed in New York he was arrested and $14,000 was found on his person. There were no charges pending against him and he was liberated with his ill-gotten gains.

In 1894 Williard was arrested in Council Bluffs for robbing a bank in Griswold, Ia. He was in company with "Doc" Butler, another well-known burglar and thief, and the two resisted arrest. Williard was severely wounded in the shooting affray and both were finally captured. They were sentenced to five years in the Iowa penitentiary.

Williard is 48 years old and makes his home in Chicago. He said that he was from St. Louis at the police station yesterday afternoon. At present he is living in Allegheny. He will be arraigned for a hearing this morning before Police Magistrate McKenna on a charge of being a suspicious person.

Deduct 50 Per Cent On All Men's Suits.

Reductions HERE mean reductions. Nothing strange, puzzling or ambiguous about them. Everything plain, clear and above board. Our object is simply to close out what's left of Summer Suits before the arrival of the Fall Stock, and, in order to attain it, we say to every man: Come in and select any Suit in our stock (Swallow Tails and Uniforms excepted) and pay just half the plainly marked price. And this marked price, remember, is our regular season price, which is the lowest in town, qualities considered. Let us cite an example: Those Standard Blue Serge Suits, sold in most other stores at $12, and here AT $10. You can now take one for just half, OR ONLY $5. Think of it! Five Dollars for a Man's full Blue Serge Suit—Coat, Pants and Vest. Ever heard of anything to beat this? And, as this, so all other Suits. Those marked $8, are yours for $4. Those marked $12, are yours for $6. Those marked $15, are yours for $7.50. Those marked $20, are yours for $10. And those marked $25 and $30, are yours for $12.50 and $15. Just half the marked price and no more. At this rate it WILL PAY YOU to buy a Suit for next year. It's an investment that'll pay you 100 per cent.
